

Trolley Road Will Be Sold January 21

Sale Will Be Held at Court House and Property Will Go to Highest Bidder—Busses, Buildings, Real Estate and Franchise Will Be Included in Sale.

Judge William D. Brincker has entered an order from the Supreme Court appointing Herbert F. Roy of Troy referee to sell at public auction on January 21 at 11 o'clock in the forenoon the property of the Kingston Consolidated Trolley Company and the Kingston City Transportation Company, operators of the city trolley and bus lines.

The sale will be held at the front door of the court house and the property will be sold to the highest bidder.

A judgment of foreclosure and sale was rendered on October 23 and filed December 6 in the county clerk's office in an action brought by the Bankers Trust Company, as trustee for the benefit of holders of bonds secured by a mortgage of deed of trust executed by the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, plaintiffs, against Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company and the Kingston City Transportation Corporation and tenants of the property, defendants. Herbert F. Roy was named as referee to sell.

The action was commenced following the default of interest on the bonds of the company.

Included in the sale will be the rolling stock, buildings, real estate, franchise and other holdings of the trolley line together with the busses, equipment and rights and consents held by the transportation company to operate the motor bus line.

Western Dramas Prove Strenuous

Mme. Jeriza Stabbed with Wooden Knife by Excited "Forty-niner"—"Sheriff" Saved by Putty.

New York, Dec. 6 (AP).—It seems these "drammers" of the wild and woolly west are just a trifle too rough for these days; at least, the Metropolitan Opera Company has found it so.

In the third mishap that has marked this season's revival of the Puccini-Belasco opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," Maria Jeriza was stabbed with a wooden knife last night and so wounded she sang with difficulty the closing "Addio, Mia California."

It was near the end of the opera, when Mme. Jeriza, playing the role of Minnie, was holding the pirate Minera at bay and preventing the lynching of the outlaw hero, Dick Johnson. She knocked the pistol from the hand of one of the forty-niners, but in the excitement of the performance she lunged again with a wooden stage knife and dealt her a severe blow in the chest.

She finished the performance, but took a curtain call in evident pain, leaning heavily on the arm of Lawrence Tibbett, and Giovanni Martinelli. She was treated in her dressing room for bruises and skin abrasion, but declined the services of a physician.

A somewhat similar accident occurred during a performance in Brooklyn Tuesday night when Mme. Jeriza suffered a sharp blow on the hand from a stage gun, which temporarily crippled her as she tried to mount her horse.

Tibbett, playing the sheriff, was struck on the nose by a falling ladder several nights ago, but was saved from serious injury by putty he had used to build up his nose for the role.

Found Dead in Blazing Bed.

Rochester, Dec. 6 (AP).—Leonard Di Pierre, 40, a laborer, of Jersey City, N. J., was found dead in his blazing bed in a rooming house here early today. Coroner Richard A. Leonardo's explanation was that Di Pierre was stricken with a heart attack while smoking in bed. Death was reported due to suffocation. The victim had come here recently in search of work.

Edsel Ford's Yacht Aground.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 6 (AP).—The steam yacht Faith, owned by Edsel Ford, went aground near Hen and Chickens light, off New Bedford harbor, last night. Seventeen members of the crew, one of whom was reported to have been injured, were taken off this morning by Coast Guard patrol boat 237, according to a radio report.

Compensation Hearing.

Referee L. A. Kilburn of the State Industrial Commission will be at the courthouse in this city on Monday, December 9, to hear claimants for compensation by reason of injuries or illness growing out of their employment.

A "Suicide" Hunt.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP).—Climbing a lonely hillside near the village of Wilton, the scene of two previous suicides, Charles King, 76 years old, shot himself last night.

Past Commander Spafford Guest Of Kingston Post

In Notable Speech Praised Legion As Greatest Organization in Country For Promotion of Peace—Senator Wicks and Mayor Dempsey Addressed Gathering.

Edward T. Spafford, past national commander of the American Legion, addressing approximately 135 members and friends of the ex-service men's organization at a dinner and meeting of the Legion Service Club Thursday night in Golden Rule Inn, Ulster Park, told the men that the American Legion was the greatest organization in this country for the promotion of peace.

The former lieutenant commander in the United States navy, and an Annapolis graduate, who won the Distinguished Service Medal for work completed during the World War, illustrated his statement by a very interesting speech that illustrated the Legion's part in helping to promote peace and the stand that it takes to protect aid for those who were discharged in the great World War.

An outburst of applause that lasted for several minutes was accorded the speaker, whose listeners, although they presumably realized the great work of the Legion, learned more about the good work being done by the organization, that was first in war and now stands out as the prime factor in promoting world peace.

Among those who heard Past Commander Spafford were State Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey of this city, guests of honor. They sat at the speakers' table with him and in talks, which they were called upon for by County Commander Conrad J. Helselman, chairman of the meeting, both extolled Mr. Spafford and the Legion, and welcomed him in behalf of Ulster county and Kingston residents, who even though they may not be eligible for membership, are 100 per cent for the Legion.

Past Commander Spafford, after being introduced by County Commander Helselman, who was asked by Attorney Thomas J. Coughlin, president of the Legion Service Club, to act as chairman of the meeting, assured every Ulsterite and especially those who resided in Kingston, that he considered this part of the state his home.

Kingston Post holds a warm spot in the heart of Mr. Spafford. He was present at the dedication of the Legion Memorial Building here at which time he gained his first high estimation of local Legionnaires and at national conventions since then has always found ex-servicemen of this city and county ready to give their utmost for the cause of Legionism. The speaker recalled the wonderful serenade that Kingston Post Drum Corps gave him at St. Anthony Hotel, San Antonio, Texas, in 1928 when the national convention was held there. He thought so much of the corps that he made every effort to have it head the big parade, and it did.

Past Commander Spafford's opening remarks were well punctuated with humor, but the serious vein that they led to was what greatly impressed those present with his ability and staunch faith in what the American Legion aims to accomplish. He reached the high point in his speech when he said:

"The American Legion is the greatest organization for peace in the country today. We who know war want peace with understanding. We want to keep our children and our children's children out of war. We know too much about war to want to become reminiscent about it, or to vent materialism on it. We spend our time in talking over the war. We are working for peace with understanding because we are also working for thousands of our men for whom the war never will be over."

Armed came in for its part in the speech, too. The former naval officer was in favor of sufficient protection for the rights of this country. He said that armament is not the cause of war. So-called bad manners on the part of nations produce conflict. They were the causes of all the wars that this country has engaged in. Mr. Spafford believed that armament is one way to prevent war. He cited Aristotle Briland, great French statesman, who said that before actual nations must disarm morally. They must not think war. Until everybody is ready to live peacefully there should be no disarmament. The American Legion is one organization that is doing all in its power to establish peace.

Mr. Spafford told of the wonderful results brought about by the Legion convention in Paris in 1927. He said it had a great bearing on cementing the relations between this country and France. It is planned to have the French Legion come to Washington, D. C., in 1932, to hold its national convention. The occasion will be the 20th anniversary of General George Washington's birthday and should add a strong link in binding the friendship between this country and its ally during the World War. It is predicted.

The American Legion will have a big part in movements to bring the French ex-servicemen to this country. It undoubtedly will receive the aid of every community in the United States in its plans. Senator A. H. Wicks of New York, who is vice chairman of the new state committee on preparing for the reception of the French Legion in a speech that he made following Mr. Spafford's remarks the American Legion, promised the American Legion that he would be with it in whatever course of action it saw wise to undertake.

Report Filed by Large Increase County Probation Officer Service County Treasurer

The following is the report of Robert J. Service, county probation officer as made by him to Joseph M. Fowler, Judge of the Children's Court, that has been filed with the Ulster county board of supervisors:

November 29, 1929.
Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, Judge,
County and Children's Courts, Ulster County, New York.

My dear Judge Fowler:
There was a time when probation was considered a success if it kept the probationer from violating the law during his period of probation but today our aim is to reach far beyond this standard. A probation officer today is a teacher of good citizenship. The aim is to so adjust the social attitude of the probationer that he may not only commit no infractions of the law but that he may be an asset to the community, a self-respecting citizen. There is no case of crime and no cure-all has as yet been found for law-breaking. Each is an individual cause by itself and must be studied and treated as such. The success of probation depends largely upon the relation established between the probationer and society; upon his changed point of view; upon his correct social attitude toward society.

There has been a decided increase this year in the number of parents who have asked for conferences in relation to behavior cases of their children. This is the most satisfying part of the work as by this method some of these cases are kept from the attention of the court. Justices in the county having confidence in this office more frequently asking advice as to the proper treatment of cases of minors. It is especially gratifying to see boys and girls who dislike the discipline of the home or the school change their attitude under the guidance suggested and then graduate from school and voluntarily come back to show their appreciation for what was done for them. The work with the juvenile is that prevention of anti-social attitude rather than that of cure after the offense has been committed.

Finer cooperation could not be desired than that given by the sheriff and every man of his staff, also by the city and state police and by the police of the various villages of the county. I also thank you for your understanding and cooperation. You will find some statistics herewith.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT J. SERVICE
Probation Officer,

Receipts of Office During Year Were $2,730.00—Committee Reports $26,349.92, allowed $20,349.92. Laid over under the rule.

Committee reports again took up the business of the Board of Supervisors at the session Thursday evening. The privilege of the floor was extended to former supervisor George Suiter of Marlborough.

The committee on printing reported bills audited, amount claimed $20,349.92, allowed $20,349.92. Laid over under the rule.

The committee on elections reported amount claimed and allowed $534.54, of which $522.54 is to be levied on county and $6 each on Lloyd and Marlborough. Laid over under the rule.

The minutes of the Ulster county board of canvassers were read and ordered filed.

The committee on county treasurer and sealer reported having examined the annual report of the county treasurer for the year beginning November 1, 1928, and ending October 31, 1929, and found said report to be correct in every particular. The receipts of the office during the year were $2,730.00 as compared with a little over $2,500.00 last year. The county bonded debt is $60,000. The committee recommended that there be raised the following amounts:

Court and Jury Fund	$40,000.00
Employees retirement system	1,858.56
Printing proceedings	1,000.00
Bounties foxes, wildcats, rabbits	1,000.00
Burial deceased soldiers	1,000.00
General funds and interest	5,300.00
Highway bonds and interest	12,025.00
Snow removal fund over-draft	2,202.70
Levied outside city	305.85

The books show that the county treasurer has received from the county clerk $12,229.72 now standing to the credit of the county clerk's account and the further sum of $1,176.50 standing to the credit of the sheriff's account, and committee recommended that the two amounts be transferred to salary accounts of these respective offices to apply on salaries for the coming year.

The committee further reported: The books of the County Treasurer's office show credit balances in the following accounts for the amounts mentioned and we recommended that he be empowered and directed to transfer these amounts to the General Fund:

Marriage license fees	$ 588.00
Return tax expenses	2,439.75
Return school tax fees	1,124.88
County treasurer's fees accounts	3,873.29
Fines account	600.00
Railroad school taxes	43.20
Revolver permits	125.50
Real estate operators' license fees	139.00

We have examined the bills presented to us and have audited the same as appears by the annexed abstract, each of said claims being a just and legal claim against the county of Ulster to the amount indicated in the column headed "allowed," and your committee recommends that each of said claims be audited and allowed at the amount so indicated on the abstract hereto annexed and made a part hereof.

Whole amount claimed $308.85
Whole amount allowed $308.85
We commend the careful and business like manner in which the affairs of this important office are conducted by the county treasurer and his assistants.

A request for an appropriation of $2,500 for the Veterans' Memorial Hospital at Ellenville was read and referred to committee on appropriations.

A petition from the town board of Plattekill was read requesting construction of a highway running westerly and connecting county highway at Tucker's Corners, with county highway running from Ardara to Plattekill. Filed.

A number of resolutions calling for appropriations and levies were called up and adopted.

On motion of Supervisor Elwin the Board of Supervisors adjourned until this evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

For Unemployment Insurance.

London, Dec. 6 (AP).—A meeting of the Labor Parliamentary Party today decided not to press any amendments of a financial character to the unemployment insurance bill but to cooperate in getting it through as quickly as possible. Much political interest attached to today's meeting in view of the government's withdrawal yesterday of a clause in the bill dealing with the disqualification of unemployed persons whose efforts to obtain work might have been deemed insufficient.

Intimates Wife Is Far From Perfect.

Oakland, Cal., Dec. 6 (AP).—Declaring Helen Simons McGraw was "sullen, mean, irritable, morbid, disagreeable, nasty, gruesome, cool, bitter, jealous, backing, picaronesque, loathsome, insulting, mean, miserably gluttonous, temperamental, selfish, contemptuous, inattentive, uncivil and inconsiderate," R. E. McGraw today sued her for divorce. They were married last year.

National Clinic For American Business Ills

Permanent Committee To Be Formed as Result of President's General Business Conference—Forty Men Named to Oversee Organization.

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—A permanent national business clinic to diagnose and correct the ills of American trade when symptoms of depression become apparent is to be established within the next few days as the first direct result of President Hoover's widely attended general business conference.

It is to take the form of a committee composed of prominent business executives whose duty it will be to maintain a close and continuous watch over the trends of business in all its phases, quickly recognize signs of retardation in any particular branch, give warning and recommend remedies.

To oversee the organization of this permanent council, forty men were selected from the many who attended yesterday's meeting and heard President Hoover single out the "Good Old Word—Work"—as the key to business progress. They were chosen by Julius Barnes, chairman of the Board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who was put in charge of the project.

Most of the forty remained in Washington, or will return here after quick trips to their offices and under Barnes' direction the organization of the permanent council, the membership of which is not limited to those comprising the forty, will proceed.

Little work was planned for today, but tomorrow the project is to be advanced through a series of informal group conferences which will go over the field of available personnel and consider the question of organization.

Among those drafted by Barnes for this task were many of those who responded in the "Roll Call of Industries" yesterday with statements of business prospects in their own fields of endeavor. These included R. H. Ashton of the Association of Railway Executives; J. A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation; President Louis S. Swift of Swift and Company; Will H. Hays, representing the motion picture industry; John S. Lonsdale, president of the American Bankers' Association, and many others equally prominent.

The permanent committee is intended to be an important factor in President Hoover's plans for America's economic future. Its establishment was suggested and approved by the Chief Executive's conference two weeks ago with a group of outstanding industrialists and manufacturers.

The Chief Executive was much pleased by the encouraging reports of prospective business which yesterday's session brought to light. In general tone the statements were optimistic and forecast extensive construction activities for the near future, a phase of business which the President has been most anxious to stimulate.

Gave Away $17,000 Then Took It Back

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 6 (AP).—George Weyer started out Tuesday to be a philanthropist and wound up today with his money all back in the bank.

He went to the bank Tuesday and asked how much his balance was. They told him it was $17,000 plus. "Too much money to be lying around," decided Weyer, so he drew out $10,000.

He moved on down the street. He came to the Guardian Angel Home and entered.

"Here's $2,000 for your excellent institution," said Weyer. "But, don't try to dissuade me. I've got money, a good job and no one to support."

The next stop was at the Providence High School, where he gave the sisters in charge $7,200. Later he dropped into the Salvation Army and gave away the rest of the money.

"Money talks the terrible," he explained.

Yesterday, however, was another day. He went to the police station and told everything.

"We've been waiting for you," the police said. "The people got up the money to have been called up. It looked fairly to them."

"Oh, that part's all right," said Weyer. "It was the money itself, but I got to thinking that if the people really want me to have it back, who am I to hurt their feelings?"

Today the money's in the bank—in Weyer's account.

During the Christmas season this year, as in several years past, Kingston will be a region of radiant holiday lighting. As wintry nights cast the darkness on daytime hours, the gaiety of Yuletide light will flash its rays of Christmas cheer along the city's thoroughfares. Homes, business buildings and the very streets themselves will be decked with gleaming colored lamps in designs that express "Merry Christmas" greetings in different ways.

Again a contest will be conducted by the Electric Service League of Kingston, but this year the plan incorporates new features that will give the competition an even greater interest. There will be really three contests combined in the main residential contest this year.

In each of the thirteen wards of the city competition will be stimulated between the homes located there by offering a prize for the best decorated residence in every ward—a total of thirteen prizes for this intra-ward contest.

The second feature is a contest between the thirteen ward prize winners, and the decoration of highest merit will be entered in a district contest—a subdivision of the activity covering the United States, the winner of which will be awarded the national prize.

The third element in this year's plan for Kingston is the selection from the thirteen wards of the most attractively decorated ward. Since the general contest includes only residential entries, the basis of judging the wards will be on residential decorations only. In some sections of the city business buildings will add to the beauty of Christmas-time Kingston, and Business Men's Associations will transform the very streets into highways of light, where the cheer of the decorations seems an outward sign of the spirit that sends throngs of young and old into store after store in their quest of Christmas joy for others. But in considering the most attractive ward these decorations will not place the other sections at a disadvantage. Even the regular street lighting appears to be a part of the Yuletide illumination, but the different types of lighting in the different sections of the city will not influence the judging either. All wards will therefore be competing on an equitable basis.

As in former years, it is not necessary to arrange an elaborate display. The lighting design which seems most appropriate for the individual home and which carries out an original idea in expressing the Christmas greeting in terms of light is the most effective. Simplicity has its own appeal. Every residence which displays some form of exterior holiday lighting will be considered in the contest. Practically every home now has its Christmas tree indoors, and more and more people are coming to enjoy a touch of holiday brightness outdoors, as well as within. It is believed that some wards will be able to create a Yuletide appearance in which every home will take its part.

A committee of judges will be appointed by the Electric Service League of Kingston and during the period of the contest a tour will be made in which every home will be judged, and the most effectively lighted ward will be selected.

Last year it will be remembered the residential prizes in Kingston were awarded as follows:

First—Charles Everett, 137 Smith avenue.

Second—Vincent A. Gorman, 134 Albany avenue.

Fourth—Mrs. George R. Albertson, 63 Andrew street.

Details of the contest, including the rules, the local and national prizes, the members of the committee and other information will be published in early issues of this paper.

WON HIS BET BUT LOST HIS LIFE

Chicago, Kan., Dec. 6 (AP).—Tom Fason, negro, bet his week's wages he could drink a quart of "moonshine" without stopping, walk 100 yards and return without staggering. Fellow employees in a filling station accepted his challenge.

The fine rabbit snow was hailed with delight by local mirrors. One of the successful ones is Irving Hasley, who with the aid of his frisky brood hound, Lindy, just about keeps 'em on the hop, some falling before his unerring aim.

Assessor Martin J. Every, in company with Supervisor Lyons, was a recent visitor at a meeting of the county board of supervisors. Mr. Every was recognized by the chairman, Supervisor Davis of Marbletown, and introduced to the body as the assessor largely responsible for raising the assessment of the New York city property in the town of Olive.

A load of G. L. F. feeds was distributed among local dairymen by the milk truck on Wednesday, purchased from Accord Farmers Cooperative.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Avery of Maple Dell Farms were county seat business callers on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rose of Traver Hollow are the proud parents of a daughter born on Monday night at Ashokan. Mr. Rose is the well known superintendent of the Ross W. Lynn estate.

Miriam Davis is listed among the 85 per cent honor roll students of Kingston high school.

A party of local Royal Arch Masons expect to attend the special convocation of the R. A. M. Triangle to be held at Kingston on Friday evening.

Current information is to the effect that Frank Eckert, formerly a well known figure about Cold Brook, is at present being cared for at the county farm.

Cards are being received from Mr. and Mrs. James Burgher, who are vacationing among friends and relatives in border tier towns of New York and Pennsylvania. They state that the weather there is nearly zero.

Due to illness while on vacation with relatives in Dutchess county, Mrs. May McGreevy, housekeeper for the Constable boys, has not yet returned.

Marvin Vandemark's woodpile being at an exceedingly low ebb, he expects soon to commence hauling, for replenishment and a season's supply.

Martin J. Every and Sylvester Jones, also Richard Bruckner of West Hurley, on Tuesday assisted the Rev. C. F. Ahrens in removing his printing machinery from the Tannersville plant and loading on a motor truck for transportation to his printing establishment in Walden, where he is the proprietor of a rapidly growing business.

During fair weather Michael Dwyer yet has employment at the Lynn estate at Traver Hollow.

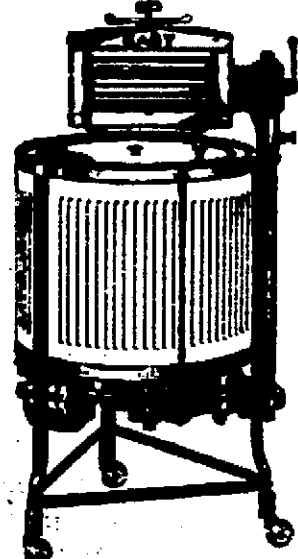

The regular preaching service will be held at the Baptist Church next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. At every service there are visitors from nearby communities, who mani-

It has been forcibly contended that in a democracy the people, by their interest or by their indifference, are responsible for the kind of government they live under. This view is strongly supported in a Red Book article by Alfred E. Smith, who, after being four times Governor of New York, can surely speak from enlightening experience. In reference to rule by party leaders in consequence of public indifference the ex-Governor pointedly says:

The trouble lies in the fact that the great mass of the people whom the average legislator represents evince no interest in government and the solution of a given question is usually made for a legislator by the party managers. For the very simple reason that the people pay no attention to him, he does not seem to pay much attention to the people who selected him to represent them. Lack of interest in public questions on the part of his constituency is a strong incentive to him to follow the wishes of his party leaders, because the silence of the represented group is a clear indication that either way he votes is satisfactory to them. Most people never think of communicating with their representative while legislation is pending. Strange to say, hundreds of thousands of people in New York today not only do not know the address of their representative, but do not even know his name. Very often when I have in public speech or over the radio suggested that the people write to their senators and assemblymen, my secretary would receive bundles of letters from people asking to be informed who their senator was and where he could be found.

On the other hand, the editors of leading newspapers are likely to be interested and alert as well as informed. "I have seen," says ex-Governor Smith, "many proposed pieces of legislation die stillborn after editorial discussion in the columns of powerful and important newspapers. Party leaders are often unable to hold legislators in the face of widespread editorial criticism of a pending measure."

DRESS AND INDIVIDUALITY.

The multitudes of women whose chief topic for some time has been the length of dresses will be greatly interested in the dispatch from Paris announcing the decision to permit two lengths to be worn—short by day and longer ones for evening. There is a theory that women dress to please and attract men, and another theory that women really "dress for women." The feminine eye being the only watchful observer and critic. Both are true, according to M. Worth, the Paris expert, who is quoted in the dispatch as saying that in the daytime women dress with regard to other women's critical approval, but in the evening they dress to win masculine approval.

Why masculine approval is sought only in the evening is not made altogether clear, but there seems to be some point in the Worth dictum that longer skirts give opportunity for a greater expression of individuality. Certainly the longer lines are more graceful. And undoubtedly there is point in Worth's further observation: "The past few seasons it has been impossible to tell women apart, and there was not enough material in a dress to tell whether it was pretty or not." He says further that in such standardization women have sacrificed individuality to comfort, and might well have added that in an over-standardized world the preservation of individuality is of great importance.

The National Association of Exhibit Managers has struck a blow against whoopee-making at conventions. At its recent meeting in Chicago it adopted a resolution disapproving the practice of lavish entertainment in hotel rooms by exhibitors or delegates. This action was taken because such entertainment had come to be a nuisance threatening the success of conventions. Executives had begun to refuse to send representatives to conventions because of it. Best men, convention managers and all convention committees are supporting the movement of the exhibit men.

They had whoopee parties to the interest of the people they represent.

There's an interesting idea of our European neighbors, to install doorbells which don't ring unless the caller drops a coin in a slot. It may be a beautiful idea, but it may be the more you think about it, the more possibilities there are in it. Here is a fine way to discourage kids from ringing the front doorbell, at Hallway or any other time. It may also discourage agents and salesmen in general who make a practice of going around ringing people's doorbells. Many a harassed housewife would feel partly repaid for all the steps she takes to the door, when she emptied the coin box at the end of the month.

The imagination is staggered by the astounding service of the radio in bearing instantly from far Antarctica the news of Byrd's great triumph and sending it through the civilized world immediately after the event. Scarcely less marvelous was the service of the airplane without which Byrd might have been as many months instead of 18 hours in reaching and returning from his goal.

Mayor Walker of New York has the reputation of a "heavy dresser," but he seems to draw the line at becoming a spectacle. He is said to characterize as "the best English joke" he ever read a report from London to the effect that he was seriously considering the adoption of robes of office similar to those worn by the Lord Mayor of London when he rides in state through the British metropolis.

DANGER OF THYROID EXTRACT.

When examining the entrails for the last Wrigley Marathon swim we came across a boy of sixteen who weighed 230 pounds. He was a bright goodlooking youngster and had done a considerable amount of swimming.

On questioning he told us that he had always been fat—fat when a baby in fact.

Now while dieting and exercise may be of help here, this is really the type of case where the thyroid extract is especially indicated. The juice of the thyroid gland, situated in the neck, is, as mentioned before, like the draught in a furnace—it makes the fuel burn. If there is too much juice—too much draught—the fuel burns up too quickly, and hence you find these thin individuals with rapid heartbeats.

If there is not enough juice or draught then the fuel does not get used, and gets stored as fat in the system.

The fact that the thyroid extract helps burn up the fuel and prevent overweight, has come to the ears of our overweight folk, and without consulting a physician they commence using it.

Now this is a most dangerous practice and physicians all over the world are coming across cases where the heart is beating rapidly and irregularly and on close questioning find that the thyroid extract has been taken to reduce weight.

If you are overweight why not go on the reduction in a sensible manner? If you have always been overweight, or became overweight at puberty—13 to 17 years of age—see your family doctor and he will likely prescribe thyroid extract and by watching its effect keep you within safe limits.

If you were thin as a youngster, and even past puberty, and then began to put on weight, you can look after the job of reducing without much advice from your doctor.

First find out from the usual tables of height and chest measurement just what you should weigh. If you are 25 per cent overweight cut down on your food intake that much—cutting down about 30 to 35 percent on fats, bread, and vegetables, and about 15 to 20 percent on meat and eggs. Meat and eggs keep up your strength during the reducing treatment.

In addition to this, gradually increase the amount of exercise taken, and in a few weeks you can gradually increase your food intake again and still be slowly reducing. I guarantee you are wise to reduce weight if you are more than 10 or 15 percent overweight, but why not go about it in a safe and sane manner.

CHAPTER 17
AN EMPTY ENVELOPE

DESPITE the depressing effect the series of mysterious happenings had had upon Peggy, she was glad to be back at the lodge. Temporarily it was home, and she found comfort in the tenderness with which Julia made her comfortable in a wicker chair on the veranda and bathed her sprained foot.

Her thoughts crowded each other as the events of the past two weeks passed in quick review. She viewed with chagrin her visit to the Evans farm where she had gone, impulsively, to return the letter from Jamieson Sinclair addressed to Obadiah Evans. It had brought only further misfortune and the puzzling discovery of the army holster which she had concluded must be Jim's.

Suddenly she sat bolt upright. "Julia! Where's my handbag?" Julia's jaw dropped open. "Miss Peggy, dear, don't sneer me to death!" she gasped. "Dar's yo' bag, hangin' on yo' left arm."

Peggy glanced down; sure enough there hung her bag by its strap over her arm to which she had clutched the folded half sheet brought from Echo farm; the latter she had thrown down on the end table close beside her chair. Peggy's feeling of relief changed to one of alarm on seeing that her bag hung open. Dragging it forward she went hurriedly through its contents, finally spilling everything into her lap.

"It's gone, Julia; oh, it's gone!" "Lawsy, honey, do keep calm," advised Julia, her own eyes bulging with excitement. "How much yo' all done lost?"

"Not money, Julia—a letter." Peggy glanced up and down the veranda.

"Go through the living room and out on the steps; perhaps I dropped it getting out of the car. Hurry!"

In the maid's absence, she examined her bag more carefully—the catch was bent, evidently in her fall climbing over the stone wall.

"I done looked aberywhar, but de letter ain't dere." Julia's troubled voice caused Peggy to look up.

"What was it like, Miss Peggy, anything special?" "No; don't mind. Thanks, Julia. Go and call Dr. Eastman; like a dear, ask for the Littlefield exchange; they'll give you his office."

Left to herself Peggy sank back in her chair. Had the letter to Obadiah Evans dropped out of her bag in the meadow on her way to Echo Farm, in the farmhouse itself, or in the Ford car? If at Echo Farm, Obadiah would be sure to find it, possibly also in the meadow, but suppose Aquila Chase had inadvertently carried it off with him? At that, finding it the botanist might suppose the hired boy had dropped it in his car; anyway he would be sure to give it to Obadiah.

Oh, if she hadn't been such a fool trying to bring back the empty holster concealed in the folds of the torn half sheet she might have noticed that her bag was hanging open on her arm; in fact, what had possessed her to forget the letter when the object of her visit to Echo Farm had been returning Obadiah's property to him?

A maddening pain in her injured ankle as she moved thoughtlessly supplied reason enough for her forgetfulness. Surely such a sprain was sufficient excuse!

"Hello!" The cheery salutation came from the walk at the side of the veranda and glancing that way Peggy saw Jim climbing up and over the railing.

"What's happened?" he demanded, glancing the steamer.

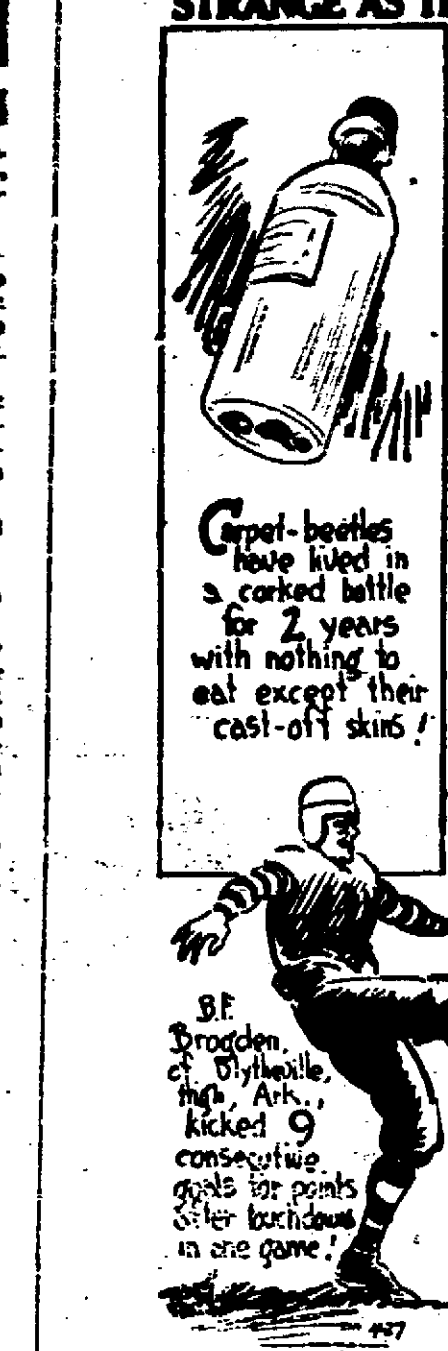

Witty American Preacher Dr. Matthew Byles, a preacher and famed for his wit, was arrested in New York in 1776 as a "pernicious" Tory. He was subsequently tried, convicted and sentenced to confinement on board a guardship, and to be sent to England with his family in 40 days. Later the sentence was changed to confinement in his own house. A guard was placed over him and then removed, then replaced and again removed, whereupon the doctor exclaimed that he had been guarded and guarded and guarded, he called his country his observatory.

Fatigue Hides Thought It is interesting to note that critics of authors who write away their daylight hours and do not settle down to work until the normal bed hour have been overthrown. Authors have been told that the most famous writers were fatigued. Through experience, however, it was found that the most famous writers were not fatigued; they were simply tired.

Facing in Paraguay The start of a Paraguayan horse race is often very picturesque. It may be set to begin early in the morning, and a series of false starts continue until noon, when the owners of the horses take their charges home for rest and refreshment. Then they will meet in the afternoon to begin all over again. The reason for the delay is that no race can begin until both jockeys are agreed that neither has the advantage; so they continue up to the start many times until they make up their minds to go.

Pretty Flower Becomes Poet Once a cherished flower, now a poet that is destroying thousands of acres of valuable pasture land, the little larkspur plant is the object of attack in Hawaii. Larkspur, known in the United States as a pretty flower, was brought to Hawaii many years ago by some native lover, just who is not definitely known, and immediately began to spread. It grows fairly at altitudes from sea level to 12,000 or 2,000 feet, and several large Hawaiian forests are being largely in grassy land.

Snaring of Song Birds

Popular Italian "Sport" The "sport" of shooting and snaring song birds is very popular all over Italy, especially in Tuscany. Perhaps it is not quite so prevalent as it was in the old days when every villa had its "uccellatore" or little thicket to which birds were lured by the call of tame caged birds trained for the purpose. They were either shot or more frequently, caught alive on twigs smeared with bird-lime, artfully concealed among the trees, and dispatched by having their necks wrung.

Yet so long as thrushes, larks and their kind, roamed on a skewer with sage leaves, continue to be a favorite winter dish, so long will the little victims for the banquet continue to be shared, and the bird fair at Porta Romana, held from time immemorial on September 23, provides the where-withal.

The fair starts early. Long before daylight country bird trainers begin to arrive from far and near, with hosts of tiny wicker cages each containing a song-bird. The variety is infinite. Chiffchaffs and thrushes fetch the highest prices—London Mail.

Youth's First Earnings

Usually Go for Food When a boy closes his first adventure in finance with money in his pockets, earned by his own efforts, his first impulse is to buy something to eat.

"We have no more important customer," said the proprietor of a city lunch counter, "than the boy who has earned his first dollar. Now, you don't often find a boy whose clothing indicates financial straits at a soda counter in a drug store. His needs are for something more satisfying, and he comes to us. He looks over the menu with an eye to quantity rather than to quality. Corned beef and cabbage have a greater appeal to him than artichokes, and having eaten he puts a small tip beside his place with a nonchalance that is amusing."

The boy may have a few cents left; if there is no urgent need for his contribution to the family budget he stops at a store on the way home and buys his mother something she does not need. Thus, very early, he begins expressing his love in the stereotyped masculine way.

His Little Lapse

Little Reggie was lining up for the first time in his life. His mother had given him a few hints beforehand on good manners, and so far Reggie had fulfilled all her expectations of him.

"Will you have a little more pudding, Reggie?" asked his hostess to ward the end of the meal.

"No, thank you," replied Reggie, to his mother's gratification.

"Oh, come on, now," urged his

Membership of "Y. M." Growing

The membership at the Y. M. C. A. is gradually growing and is expected to soon get in line with other associations in New York. The present membership is well over 400 with plenty of prospects of it reaching 500 before January 1.

Members enrolled last month were the Rev. E. O. Clarke, Otto Christensen, C. W. Finn, Fred Deane, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, the Rev. J. A. Leach, the Rev. F. W. Moore, the Rev. Mr. Noel, the Rev. J. A. Prater, the Rev. C. B. Smith, J. Warren McGee, Henry Dittus, Arthur Chipp, Kenneth Ensign, John Featherstone, H. LeRoy Gill, Fred Galloway, Clarence See and Ernest Smith.

So far this month the following have joined: Cecil Adams, John Gacina, James Holcomb, Jesse Baker (brought in by R. Rose), Walter Hubbard (by Herbert Mills), Harold Kuehn (by Thomas Rowland) and Blandford Raichle. The goal set for this month's new members is 20.

The following men are on the membership committee of the "Y" and are responsible to a great extent for the splendid showing in November: Ernest LeFevre, James W. Scott, Stanley Winne, Chester A. Bantz, Earl Leemon, Arthur Quimby, Clarence Wolfenstein, Thomas Rowland, Emil Boersneck and Wilson C. Ingalls.

News from the World on Wheels

Trainload shipments of automobiles in November establish another exceptional record in the history of De Soto. On three occasions in less than three weeks' time special solid trainload shipments, in addition to the regular deliveries, were made from the factory in Detroit to supply the demand of new-car buyers. These special trainload shipments indicate public realization of the qualities of the automobile, rather than the season of the year, as the real determining factor, and that this is an advantageous time of year to purchase a new car. In making the first trainload shipment, what is believed to be a record in point of time was made. This was a train of thirty freight cars, moving from Detroit to the De Soto dealer in Los Angeles. The running time was approximately six and one-half days.

Two out of every three Packard cars are sold and serviced under the direction of men who have been with the Packard Motor Car Company ten years or more and whose average length of service with the company is 16½ years. They constitute more than one-third of the distributors of the company. More than half of the total number of cars made by Packard are handled by men who have been with the company an average of 21 years. The Packard Company makes public a number of other interesting facts bearing on the stability of its retail organization. It points out that men in charge of service operations in territories which absorb 70 per cent of its total output have been with the company an average of 17 years.

The efficiency of laboratory tests given the better automobiles before they are introduced to the public is being demonstrated with the advent of cold weather in a Viking Eight. This new companion car to the Oldsmobile Six is rapidly winning a reputation for easy starting regardless of how low the thermometer reads. During the many months the Viking was being designed and perfected, the engine was forced to undergo the most rigorous tests. These included being placed in the "cold room" at the General Motors laboratories and kept there for hours in below zero temperatures and then timed with stop watches to see how long a time was required to start the engine running. The results of these tests guided the engineers in their refinements of design, which continued until the temperature had no noticeable effect on the starting.

D. A. R. Meeting Largely Attended

The December meeting of the D. A. R. Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the chapter house on Thursday afternoon and was largely attended. Following the usual opening exercises and routine business, it was reported that the recent card party, held to raise funds to help the ex-servicemen at Castle Point, near Beacon, had netted the sum of $125. Recently Mrs. Frederick Snyder had taken three of the D. A. R. members down to the hospital where 402 ex-servicemen are in with tuberculosis, with only some 125 men well enough to go to the mess hall for their meals. The visit to the hospital proved very enlightening and the women found it a beautifully situated place, with the hospital well cared for and operated. It was learned that when the boys who were able to go home, were asked if they would like to go, they frequently said "No" simply because they had no funds for the trip. So it was decided to contribute the $125 for the express purpose of being used, as far as it would go, toward sending some of the lads home for their Christmas.

The chapter voted to purchase their usual number of tuberculosis Christmas Seal.

The program for the afternoon consisted of an illustrated talk about Tamassas, South Carolina, where there is the splendid school for the white girls from the mountains. This is the only school of its kind, carried on entirely by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Among the group of buildings of the school, the New York State Building, the first to be built in 1922-23, a most attractive building, is used as a dormitory for twelve girls and two teachers. The chapter voted to contribute, as usual, $25 toward the support of this school.

Announcement was made that the annual Christmas-tide tea dance would be held December 17, further news about the same to be given out later.

The social hour for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. William Fry and Mrs. Coraella Stafford as the hostesses.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Don't Let Your Kidneys Torture You for Life—Thousands Achieve New Way to Curb Night Rising, Weakness and Aching Feeling Due To Inefficient Excretions—Plant Compound, Called Meza-Kava, Now Rushed To Local Druggists Here—FREE Diet Book Given With Every Package.

A famous cure, who has brought Meza-Kava to the attention of thousands of sick and ailing people who have blessed her for doing so, and made the startling statement today that more people owe their complaints to poor blood due to faulty elimination of wastes than any other cause. Meza-Kava triumphs are not hard to understand—for this amazing herbal compound helps to normalize the bladder excretions, and to eliminate bowel matter. Contains genuine Mexican Maguay Sap and other herbs, roots and bark extracts from the tropics.

No matter what you have tried in the past without success, you owe it to yourself to give Meza-Kava a chance to help you. Read what it has done for others—then decide to get these benefits yourself.

The Chronic Invalid

He waited until "Stones" formed in his kidneys and then it meant "the knife." Change in diet, counteracting uric acid and increasing kidney passages might have helped him. Don't wait until it is too late!

No More Getting Up Nights

Say These Men Fast 40

Thousands of men past 40 are troubled with disturbed sleep, due to over-acidity or inefficient kidney excretion. After taking Meza-Kava for this condition, this is what they say:

Dr. A. P. Bauer, age 45—"Dull aching feeling all gone. Enjoy full nights of sleep free time to myself. Meza-Kava helped me wonderfully."

Mr. Edwin Fisher, age 42—"Had to get up many times at night. Felt miserable and tired. Bowels work fine since taking Meza-Kava—I sleep fine."

Mr. Y. F. Lloyd, age 40—"Meza-Kava did me more good than any medicine. I sleep much better and feel years younger in every way."

Say These Joyous Women

Women whose complaints are caused by failure of bladder and bowels to rid the body of poisonous wastes, say:

Mrs. Wm. Dillman, age 41—"Meza-Kava has helped me to such an extent, I have told dozens of people to try it. I sleep free—have no more pains. Look years younger."

Mrs. E. V. Brown, age 34—"Headaches gone—I sleep much better and feel fine. Meza-Kava deserves full credit."

Mrs. Rose Girard, age 30—"Felt all bloated up—couldn't sleep—always tired and aching. All my friends wonder at my change since taking Meza-Kava."

Mrs. Lydia Bishop, age 46—"Six times a night I was up each and every night until I started on Meza-Kava. Now I sleep fine and feel better all over."

How Meza-Kava Aids Nature To Aid You

By increasing the urinary excretions from the bladder and the old matter from your bowels, Meza-Kava gives Nature a chance to build up the normal strength and health of the system. Only nature can cure you—Meza-Kava triumphs in countless cases are due to helping Nature work. Beware of medicines who promise to cure your case! Nature is the only healer.

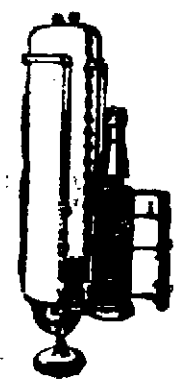

DIET BOOKLET FREE

A New York specialist charged $25.00 for the diet advice now given absolutely free with each package of Meza-Kava. The food you eat is vital—learn the whole truth. Do not delay—it may soon be too late even for Meza-Kava to aid you. Learn about this Mexican plant compound today from: McBride Drug Store, 634 Broadway, Whelan Drug Store, 280 Wall Street, Meyer Bros., Bangerter, N. Y.

French Rail Mileage

Second in Europe

Paris.—The system of French railroads covers 41,757 kilometers, and it is the most important in Europe after that of Germany, which covers 53,556 kilometers. The English railway system, which follows these two, has only 31,550 kilometers and that of Italy 18,500.

In point of view of intensity of traffic, France has 1,470,000 metric tons; Belgium, 1,175,000; Germany, 2,063,000; England, 1,970,000, and Switzerland 1,476,000.

However, from the point of view of financial receipts, gross receipts from the capital in France reach 23 per cent, while in Germany and in England they are only 20 per cent; in Switzerland, 14 per cent and in Italy 12 per cent. Thus the net profits are higher in France than in other countries.

Other statistics show that it requires four and one-half months of work to pay the salaries of French railway personnel, two and one-half months to pay maintenance expenses, two months to pay state taxes, one month and one-half to pay interest to debenture and bondholders, one month to settle fuel bills, and fifteen days to pay depreciation debts. It only requires a few hours of work for the different companies to pay shareholders and directors.

Centennial of Turbine

1930; Inventor Ignored

Paris, France.—Next year, 1930 will be celebrated the centennial of the invention of the hydraulic turbine. Fourneyron, the marvelous French inventor, is so much ignored in connection with the turbine that most of the best known encyclopedias have neglected to mention his name. American engineers themselves only realize that he had the merit to perfect and generalize the use of the turbine. This in itself seems worthy of recognition by the entire world.

It was another engineer, also a Frenchman, Marcel Desprez, who was the first to realize the transport of electrical energy, invention without which that of Fourneyron would be only of use in regions where waterfalls abound. Like most other inventors, Desprez died poor, unhonored and unsung.

Alcohol From Sugar

Used in Brazil Motors

Rio de Janeiro—"Agulha" is the name which has been given to a new motor fuel much used in the state of Pernambuco. Its producers are a group of sugar manufacturers who have visualized the economic possibilities offered by an alcoholic motor fuel and who have formed a corporation to exploit "agulha."

This is basically a mixture of ether and an alcohol derived from cane sugar, the residue of which are usually thrown away by the sugar mills in Pernambuco and other states.

Mud Has Advantages

A city built on mud has its advantages. New Orleans cannot have skyscrapers, as other large cities do, because it sits on "1100 feet of mud," but the man in charge of the seismograph at Loyola university there, says the city has never been known to feel the tremor of an earthquake.

New York.—When Andrew Carnegie, marking on his philanthropic in 1929, declared that the rich men should be only the trustees of wealth, to be used for the public good, he opened a new vista of service to the American millionaire. Public gifts from private fortunes were rare and small in those days. Today they have reached such a volume that nearly two and a half billion dollars will be available for schools, hospitals, health, social and scientific research agencies in 1929.

Clyde Farr, secretary of the Carnegie foundation, points out this significant change in the attitude of wealth toward public welfare in the World's Work magazine. He shows that of 179 major foundations for administering great fortunes for the public good, approximately 200 per cent have been founded since 1900.

During the past 30 years no fewer than a dozen great universities have received the greater part of their funds from private wealth while scores of others have been aided by large contributions. Mr. Farr points out.

The University of Chicago has received $200,000 from the Rockefeller; Scholastic and Mrs. Lehman Straub gave $250,000 to the university which bears their name; George Eastman has given approximately $250,000 to the University of Rochester.

Prince Of Wales Plans New African Game Hunt

The map shows airplane and steamship routes available to the Prince of Wales for his big-game hunt in Africa. He will go first to Cape Town, then to the game country northward.

Nairobi, British East Africa (AP).—This out-of-the-way African city will become an important news center early next spring.

The Prince of Wales is expected here for a few weeks of hunting in East Africa.

Readers will recall the prince's sensational dash homeward from Africa last year, due to his father's dangerous illness. His race to London from Dar-es-Salaam cut short what had been planned as a leisurely tour of the big-game continent.

Next year, assuming King George's health continues to improve, the prince plans to visit many places which his earlier itinerary would have included had it not been so dramatically interrupted.

Present plans call for the prince's departure from Southampton January 3, aboard the liner Kenilworth Castle. He will bring with him not only his elephant guns but an airplane, as he intends to fly from Rhodesia to Kenya if conditions are favorable. He will go first to Cape Town but will do his elephant hunting in Uganda.

While at Cape Town the prince will be the guest of the earl of Athlone and Princess Alice, countess of Athlone, with whom he had intended to spend last Christmas.

He is expected to reach East Africa late in February or early in March.

Lindsley Ave. Hearing Monday

Monday evening the laws and rules committee of the common council will hold a hearing on the petition referred to it at the last meeting of the common council. The petition asked that the city authorities take action toward having Lindsley avenue kept open to the public, and is signed by 212 names. All who signed the petition are invited to appear at the hearing and state what action they believe the city should take.

At the meeting of the common council Tuesday it was stated that a large tree had been cut down in July and positioned on Lindsley avenue, just beyond the Corbys property, so that it was impossible for the public to use the road.

Unnumbered Victims of Dreams of Easy Wealth

Sudden wealth, acquired without effort, stirring greed and luxury and waste, appeals to the primitive instinct of many otherwise sane and sensible people. The thrill of acquisition, of enjoyment, the possibility of success in the next spin of the wheel, the next turn of the card, the next shovelful of earth has kept men fighting odds since history began, says the St. Paul Dispatch.

There is a romance in search for buried treasure, in striving for unearned wealth, even in the gold fields, the potato patch, the gaming table and the stock market that is fascinating. It leads to violence to risk and danger. They give us thoughts to how many are beaten.

Men seldom learn of their losses, so failures in the gamble for easy wealth rarely win the spotlight. Now and then a paragraph tells of a broken man, ending his life. Young men who gamble with their company's money are frequently imprisoned as embezzlers. For these are the dramatic incidents that get into print. The thousands who risk and lose their life's savings sink away of sight without leaving a ripple on the surface.

It is sometimes worth remembering that all who play do not win.

Unfortunate Trend to Flabbiness of Thinking

It has been said a good many times over, in this generation as in others, but President Hildren of Princeton did well to remind the students of his university that they should be on their guard against a flabby mind, just as we are warned to against a flabby muscle.

The old Roman who spoke for "the good side" in a second body" got the most credit. In our modern-day we are almost always thinking the opposite of the body. As education becomes more and more complex, the body mind, unequal to the task of solving an important problem of life and thinking it through, because it is and more practical, leads to the judgment of that possession. It is really no one should be more worried than the student.—Columbus Dispatch.

Rapid Hose Co. Enjoys Banquet

Fire Company Pays Tribute to Two of Its Members, Mayor Dempsey and President Everett, of Common Council, by Entertaining Them at Banquet.

Rapid Hose Company paid a tribute to two of its members, Mayor E. J. Dempsey and President C. Ray Everett, of the common council, by entertaining them at a banquet at the engine house, Horse street, Thursday evening and the event proved a red letter one in the pages of the company's history. In addition to the two guests of honor the invited guests included Senator Wicks, Fire Commissioners Walker, Mullen and Kaplan, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Sheriff Arthur Rice and William B. Martin, former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, Deputy Fire Chief Fred M. Leverich, Marshall Miller, superintendent of the city fire alarm system, and others.

The mayor and alderman-at-large have been members of the fire company for some time, and shortly after their success at the polls in the November election their fellow members of Rapid Hose voted to celebrate the event with a banquet in honor of Mayor Dempsey and President Everett and appointed committees to arrange for the event. That the committees were successful was proven by the excellent banquet and fine time enjoyed not only by the guests of honor but by everyone in attendance.

The banquet, which was prepared and served by William Von Berg of the Advance Restaurant on Wall street, was excellently cooked and served. The event was somewhat late in getting underway owing to the fact that Mayor Dempsey that evening was also in attendance at the American Legion dinner at the Golden Rule Inn. Fire Commissioner Charles Mullen and Fire Chief Murphy had been called to New York that day and they also were late in arriving at the engine house and it was about 10 o'clock before the banquet was served. Before the serving of the banquet the fire company held its regular monthly meeting and discussed a number of matters of interest to the company.

The banquet was served on the lower floor of the engine house, which had been cleared for the purpose and long tables stretched end to end. Mayor Dempsey, President Everett and the other guests of the evening occupied a table at the front of the large room, facing the other members of the company. There was little delay in serving the menu as Mr. Von Berg had a large force of capable waiters on hand and as soon as the good things had been tucked beneath the vests of the diners, Fred Sudheimer, president of Rapid Hose Company, presiding as toastmaster, told of the reason for holding the banquet and then called on Mayor Dempsey, who spoke briefly and thanked his fellow members for the honor they had conferred on him. Louis Kaplan responded.

Mayor Dempsey said that there was one problem that was confronting him and that probably some one there could assist him in solving. The term of one of the members of the board of fire commissioners expires this year and he was wondering who he could appoint. "I wonder," said the mayor with a smile, "if any one present cared to mention the name of Louis Kaplan for re-appointment. He is a member of Rapid Hose."

"I'll second that nomination," shouted one of the members from the rear of the hall, and there was loud applause.

William B. Martin said that as a member of Excelsior Hose Company he would like to adopt the mayor's suggestion and nominate Mr. Kaplan to succeed himself and asked Senator Wicks to put the motion. It was unanimously carried.

"I'll appoint you Commissioner Kaplan," observed the mayor, turning to Mr. Kaplan.

Commissioner Kaplan said that he was taken so by surprise that he did not know what to say. He thanked the mayor for the honor to be conferred on him.

"A Better and Bigger City."

President C. Ray Everett said he was glad of the opportunity to thank his fellow members for the honor they had bestowed upon him, and then called attention to the fact that efforts were under way to make Kingston a bigger and better city by the rejuvenating of the Chamber of Commerce, and he urged the members of the fire company to get back of any plan that sought the betterment of the city.

Others Who Spoke.

Senator Wicks also spoke briefly as did Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Deputy Fire Chief Fred M. Leverich, Fire Commissioners Walker, Mullen, Kaplan and William B. Martin.

Sheriff Rice spoke briefly and said that he was glad to be present. James M. Murphy, Vice President of the fire company and Ray Whitbeck, clerk of the fire board, also spoke briefly.

Entertainment Followed.

After the speaking the firemen and their guests adjourned to the parlors where they were entertained by Ed Barton, the local minstrel man, and members of the company, with songs and stories.

WILL DISCUSS JEWISH LAW OF CLEANLINESS

The Ladies' Bible Study Group of Temple Emanuel will hold its next meeting Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the temple.

Babbi Leffkowitz will discuss the Jewish Dietary Laws as historically and scientifically conceived. Included in the subject will be the meaning of the term "Kosher," its significance in ancient days and modern times; the distinction between clean and unclean animals as noted in the Levitical Laws of Purity (Lev. 11, 2-20; Deut. 14, 6-20); the ritual slaughter among the Jews; the Oriental attitude of the care of animals in Jewish life as compared with that of western civilization. All are welcome to this meeting.

Authors Who Despised Books

While it is natural to assume that all authors are devoted readers and advocates reading for others, it is pointed out that de Mungastown and books "made one narrow, they misapprehended life, lived in their own little world, they taught people to talk about things they do not understand." Further, Emily Zola compared authors to "monsters" who prepared their stuff for others while not looking at their own.

Both somewhat frisky young people aren't as quiet as the young people of older days used to be, but neither are the old people—Springfield Union.

Forecast: Christmas shoppers' faces will be worn again this year.

Our thoughts go out at this glad season to the holiday season to each of our unseen friends who read our efforts in amuse; to wish them prosperity in their undertakings, wisdom for the work, peace for the pathway, friends for the fire and strength to the last.

Some poems can fill a heart with joy. Some poems can fill a head. Some poems can fill a man with thoughts. To do a work deed.

Some poems can fill an eye with tears. But this kind, should you ask it, can only fill one kind of thing. And that's a paper basket.

A Nebraska poultry fancier has succeeded in producing a wingless chicken. It is now up to some smart man to go him one better with a chicken that will have two wish-bones, two livers and no backbone or neck.

Advice to Young People—Whoa!

Safety First—People often whistle to keep up their courage. Remember this the next time you are walking in a tough neighborhood. And remember also that a police whistle is as good as any.

The Old Dear: "Yes, we've been married going on forty years, and my husband has never deceived me once."

The Dear: "My, isn't that wonderful!"

The Old Dear: "Yes, isn't it? I can tell when he's lying—every time."

All Depends.

Prison Chaplain (to sick inmate): "Don't lose courage, my good man, everything comes to a conclusion, today we are here and tomorrow we are gone."

Inmate: "Yes, you perhaps, but not me. I'm here for 10 years."

Everything can be accomplished if he sets himself to the task. A Kingston youth with no other known talent blows beautiful rings of cigarette smoke.

Open Handsome
Radio Parlor

On Saturday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock, Forsyth and Davis will open a new, handsome and perfectly equipped radio parlor in the second story of their auto sales and service building, No. 113 Green street, directly opposite the chapter house of Wilbur Chapter, D. A. R. It is considered one of the handsomest radio parlors along the Hudson river, with its large windows opening on a pleasant outlook, and built with every consideration for the best possible acoustics. Here will be displayed and demonstrated the Atwater Kent radios, the Atwater Kent people making half of the radio sets in the world, at their 32 acre plant in Philadelphia, where in their big daylight building they manufacture a million and a half radios in a year. Another radio sold by Forsyth and Davis will be the Brunswick, noted for the beauty of its tone, the horn being made of specially selected woods, whose resonance is exceptionally good. The third radio to be seen and heard in the new parlor will be the Zenith, which has a new and exclusive self-tuning attachment operating for twelve of the outstanding radio stations.

One of the features that will be of special interest and importance in connection with these radios will be their cabinets, made by famous cabinet makers—the "Red Lion," "Showers," "Adler Royal," and the "Kiel Table with the Golden Voice." The latter is absolutely new and is sure to be a great favorite. It is a table, apparently, of beautiful wood, a handsome piece of furniture for any room completely concealing the mechanism of the radio, which gives out a clear, full tone. Another fine cabinet is the "Pooley Cabinet." The special lighting of the parlor will make it very attractive evenings, for beginning Saturday it will be open every week-day evening until Christmas.

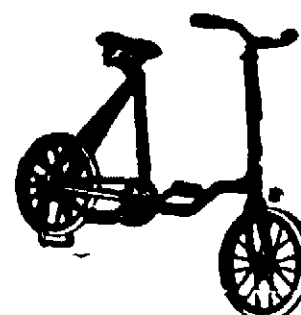

While the grown-ups are investigating the radios the little folks, who will be welcomed, will be delighted with the fascinating Christmas doll house, all beautifully furnished and lighted up.

Just off of the radio parlor are the new offices of the Forsyth and Davis, Company, completely equipped and attractively furnished.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the opening of the new radio parlor on Saturday and to visit it at any time in the future.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONSTHE RANGES WALTLINE A
EMPIRE REVIVAL?

New York—The unexpected is forever happening, even in fashion. That women have really gone in for long, longer skirts, comes as a shock to all those who predicted that they were too sensible to revert to such discomforts as the long skirt represented. Some reports of what has been worn even by the college set seem unbelievable, yet eye witnesses testify to elbow length glaze gowns, floor length skirts and even trains.

Day by day the distance between shoe tops and hems is lessened. One reason for this is that many women are choosing morelly Oxfords for winter wear—another of course that skirts hover anywhere from three to six inches below the knee.

Dress is of Violet Crepe de Chine. Fine Pin Tucks in Chevron Motif Marking the Slightly Fitted Waistline, and Trimming the Sleeves. At the point of the V-neckline, Outlined by Several Rows of Pin-tucking, is Suspended a Crystal Pendant.

While the princess silhouette is included in daytime fashions, it is in its ascendancy in the evening wardrobe, interesting exceptions being noted as for instance the unusual violet crepe frock, illustrated. By virtue of a clever arrangement of tucks, the silhouette almost hits hints at the Empire, a line which many prophesy is sure to follow.

The intrusion of violets and purples into the winter collections gives promise of further development for spring, and more especially for resort wear. Greens, capricious and the fashionable, peach having registered not only at the premiere of the Metropolitan but on gale nights throughout the month.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Charming Evening Gown. 6657. Printed lame is suggested for this attractive design. Velvet, sheer, or Panné velvet is also pleasing. Lace may be used, in black, brown or the blue that is lighter than navy blue, or in yellow or egg shell tones. The wide hip yoke curves upward in the front of the waist portion, which shows a deep round neck opening. In the back the neckline is oval. The skirt has the new flare, and is lengthened over the back, with flare panels.

The pattern for this design is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4 yards of material 39 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge with fullness extended is 2 1/2 yards. To finish neck and arm-eye edges also yoke edges with bias binding will require 5 1/2 yards 1 1/2 inches wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice. Send 15c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Fall and Winter 1929-1930 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches) all valuable hints for the home dressmaker.

Unacknowledged Debt. So far as we know only part of our pioneer history; that of the non-Eastern speaking immigrant remains yet very largely, to be told.—American Magazine.

CREEK LOCKS.

Creek Locks, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Anna Graham returned home after spending a week with her aunt in New York.

Mrs. George Sagar and Mrs. Richard Sagar called on Mrs. Jacob Weimar on Tuesday evening and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kostecki called on her on Wednesday evening.

The Misses Mary and Nellie Regan of Kingston spent Thanksgiving day at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Coffey of Kingston spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Walsh.

Mrs. Charles Hermance of Rosendale Heights spent Thanksgiving day with her mother, Mrs. Dinah Davall and her daughter, Betty.

It looked like a real old-fashioned Thanksgiving when the folks awoke in the morning. The earth was covered with a blanket of snow, but after "Old Sol" got in his work it quickly disappeared.

The many friends of Mrs. David Mowle are sorry to hear she is ill and under the care of Dr. L. Rymph. All hope to see her about again very soon.

Mrs. Sigmund Shulhof, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Jacob Weimar and George Erl were Kingston shoppers on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sagar and Mrs. Sagar's sister, Miss Rachel Deming, spent Thanksgiving day at their sister's home in Stamford, N. Y., where a family reunion was held. Moses Wallace of Staten Island paid a brief visit to his home here during the Thanksgiving holidays.

All were glad to see Henry Greaser out again after his recent illness. During the recent cold snap the Rondout Creek was frozen over from shore to shore. The oldest inhabitants can't recall when it was frozen over so early in the season.

It is quite encouraging to hear the poultry men report that their busy, sturdy little pullets are on the job after several months of non-production. During the cold snap of several days ago the thermometers registered 4 degrees above zero.

There are quite a number of traps in this vicinity and a poor cat was caught in one and suffered for two days before a resident discovered it and put it out of its misery. The least thing a trapper can do is to visit his traps several times a day so that no poor animals will have to undergo unnecessary suffering.

Real Happiness. That the world is as we see it, is not in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting, and being served by others. It consists in giving and serving others.—Henry Drummond.

What are YOUR chances of baking success?

Greater • Greater • with Calumet because it rises twice !!

MAKE THIS TEST

See for yourself how baking powder acts—and how Calumet acts twice to make your baking better. Put two level teaspoons of Calumet into a glass, add two teaspoons of water, stir rapidly five times and remove the spoon. The tiny, fine bubbles will rise slowly, half filling the glass. This is Calumet's first action—the action that takes place in your mixing bowl. After the mixture has entirely stopped rising, stand the glass in a pan of hot water on the stove. In a moment, a second rising will start and continue until the mixture rises to the top of the glass. This is Calumet's second action—the action that takes place in your oven. Make this test today. See Calumet's Double-Action which protects your baking from failure.

When you bake with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder, you can feel sure that the cakes and biscuits you take from the oven will be perfect every time.

For Calumet acts twice, not once. Its first action—in the mixing bowl—opens up the batter and starts the leavening. Its second action—in the oven—lifts the cake up to the top of the pan and holds it there until it is perfectly baked. Your cake is bound to be good.

All baking powders are required by law to be made of pure, wholesome ingredients. But not all are alike in their action. Not all will give you equally fine results in your baking. Because of its double-action, millions of women prefer Calumet. It outsells every other baking powder.

Your grocer is now selling Calumet. Order a can today. Bake a Calumet cake or a pan of Calumet biscuits. Use only one level teaspoon of Calumet to a cup of flour. This is the usual Calumet proportion and should be followed for best results—a real economy, too.

NOISY CRICKET SLAIN BY COP

All Is Quiet in Millburn,
N. J., Since Officer
Got His Insect.

Millburn, N. J.—Sergeant Lyon, the second best detective in the police department and a ruthless crowd buster, got his cricket recently and has settled down for a season of duty that will not be rendered blunder by the trill of the insect.

Sergeant Lyon is aware that some persons esteem the cricket highly, that the creature's intermittent song has inspired poets and that there is a general impression that the song of the cricket betokens homely coziness, a log fire, a kettle on the hob, and a back bottle beside the rocker.

Such persons, Sergeant Lyon believes are theorists. They may have heard a cricket or two, he admits, but it is his conviction that none of them, not even the poets, have had to sit up with a cricket night after night. That is what Sergeant Lyon has had to do ever since a cricket found shelter beneath the floor of headquarters when the first cold snap came several weeks ago and he found it an agonizing experience.

Night Tour Usually Quiet.
The night tour of duty of Millburn police headquarters is pretty quiet as a general thing. The ticking of the clock and the scratching of the night sergeant's pen on the blotter are usually the only sounds to be heard from 10 o'clock at night until 6 o'clock in the morning and, of course, the night sergeant doesn't have to write all the time.

In the course of several years' service Sergeant Lyon had become delicately attuned to this silence. He found it restful and resented any harsh interruption, as many a patrolman discovered who inadvertently dropped a pin.

Into this perfect peace broke the strident shrilling of a cricket a few weeks ago, and nothing Sergeant Lyon was able to do would still it. When he stamped around the floor above the insect the cricket yelled back derisively.

When he finally located the cricket under the door beneath the water cooler and palmately panned him down the drain a small insect was scurried and scurried his feet, the cricket vanished in grief.

Sergeant Lyon wouldn't have minded the cricket so much, he said, if his repertoire had been more extensive, but he knew only one air, and only a few of two of that and sang them over and over again. Sergeant Lyon hunted a photograph by the crack for two nights and played records for hours in the hope that the cricket would absorb some other tune, but the next night the cricket straggled away at the same monotonous refrain.

Cop Gets an Idea.
One morning recently the cricket was at it again and Sergeant Lyon was striding frantically to and fro. His eye lighted upon an air rifle which had been confiscated recently from a small boy. It gave him an idea. He was determined to be perfectly lawabiding by carrying it out, and, immediately consulting the game laws, knowing that frogs and turtles frequently are accorded protection by the game laws, Sergeant Lyon thought it possible that crickets were also.

However, he found no mention of crickets in the game laws. It was not even required that they be hunted on alternate Thursdays with shotguns. Crickets apparently were fair game at any time and with any weapon.

Sergeant Lyon picked up the air rifle, slipped a BB shot into it and pumped a charge of air into the reservoir. Then he removed his shoes and stole softly toward the crack in the floor beneath the water cooler. He took careful aim and pulled the trigger. It is his belief that he wounded the cricket, though not mortally, for it snarled savagely, and but for a leg which dragged in the dust would have sprung through the crack at him. Sergeant Lyon believes. He reloaded hastily and fired again, and this time absolute silence succeeded the shot. Peering cautiously through the crack—for many a cricket has been known to feign death to bring the unwary hunter within its clutches—Sergeant Lyon saw the cricket lying motionless, a gaping bullet hole just behind its shoulder.

All is now quiet at headquarters, and the only regret of Sergeant Lyon is that he was unable to recover his game after he had shot it. If he had been able to mount the head, Millburn police headquarters would have a unique trophy, he feels.

The Last Straw

"I'll follow them," screamed the wrathful woman—"I'll follow them to the ends of the earth."

"You had better stay at home and apply for a divorce," suggested her cooler-headed friend. "A man who will run away with the housemaid is hardly worth so much emotion."

"Oh, bother the housemaid and him, too. They took my nap with them."

with Fred Van Deusen not later than Monday noon.

Dr. Julian L. Clifford introduced as the speaker of the evening, Allen Stone, writer and publisher of the New York Times, who gave a very interesting address on his profession. His address was most provocative and very interesting.

Owing to the illness of the speaker
there will be no meeting next week.

Flashes of Life sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—There are bachelors among the young ladies of the notable, bachelor of arts. Miss Ann Whitcomb, graduate and arts girl herself, made a speech before the chorus as a stepping stone to the theatre and saying she is only one of many college graduates training to be it.

London—Zena Dare, long a musical comedy star, is stirred by the fact that doctors an army officer resign if he marries an actress. A prime minister married an actress would be expected to resign, she asked. "I don't think he would," her comment was provoked by the engagement of Francis Francis, the royal horse guards to Sunny Mann, American comedienne. The venerable Maurice Brett left the stream guards to marry Miss Dare.

New York—There are at least 250 marriages among New York debutantes. The first junior assembly of the season will be held tonight. Only 300 or more who are blossoming.

San Francisco—Among golfers is Mrs. Abe Espinosa. In playing a divorce on the ground of adultery she charged, among other things, that Abe, one of a family of pros, refused to take her out.

New York—A pal of Lindbergh's is to follow a suggestion of his and take a honeymoon on the Pan-American air route. Harry A. Bruno, aviator, is to marry Lydia D'Arnell, actress.

Truro, Mass.—Anthony R. Francis, who used to play football at high school, has a new way of capturing a deer in the hunting season. He made a successful spring tackle of one.

West Brookfield, Mass.—There's a big buck deer loose in the woods wearing a wrist watch. Mrs. Casavan of Springfield shot him down. When he got up to the animal the buck tossed its head, a point of the antlers got under a strap on Bob's wrist and off the buck darted, watch dangling.

Potomac Springs, Me.—Tokio, 13-year-old husky, who once helped carry diphtheria serum to Nome, is to be killed to relieve the sufferings of old age. His body will be stuffed and kept in a museum at Yale. Tokio was given to Mrs. E. P. Kieker, Jr., by Leonard Seppala, who drove him to Nome.

Ypsilanti, Mich.—To him who built Henry Ford has been bequeathed $100 by Mrs. Florence Smalley-Hubbart, 82, another collector of antiques.

New York—Down with smokes in chains! Chain tobacco, grocery and drug stores have cut the price of some cigarettes to 12 cents a pack. Some are selling cartons of ten packages for $1.13. The reductions apply throughout the country. The new retail prices are less than the retail wholesale prices. Discounts permit a minute profit if cost of handling is not reckoned.

20 Injured By 104th Bomb

Chicago, Dec. 6 (AP).—The 104th bomb of the year, and one of the most powerful ever planted in Chicago, exploded last night at 344-316 West 31st street, blasting a four-story building and injuring 20 persons, one seriously.

Firemen estimated the damage might reach $50,000.

Frank, 11-year-old son of Tony Marsello, who had a barbershop in the building, was the most seriously hurt, although half a dozen others required hospital attention.

Police were unable to determine today at whom the bomb was directed or for what reason. It may have been aimed at the barbershop; it may have been meant for a drug and cleaning company which has a store in the same building; or there may have been a connection between the bomb and William (Steady) Looney and "Big Dave" Earsman, known as labor racketeers. The latter theory had the heaviest support among investigators. Looney and Earsman are reputed recently to have entered into a partnership in the sale of a patent medicine. A drug store in the bombed building was their headquarters. The bomb exploded in a courtyard at the rear of the drug store and barbershop.

FATHER OF WATERS IN REFORMER ROLE

Rowdy Natchez Waterfront Is Crumbling.

Natchez, Miss.—As sure as the mighty river made Natchez Under the Hill the most colorful and disreputable spot in the New world, Father Mississippi, apparently in retaliation for cutting away the last physical remains of the notorious gamblers, murderers and steamboat pirates' rendezvous. After years of relentless washing constant undermining, the Father of Waters at last has Natchez Under the Hill, literally and figuratively, with its back to the wall. Tomorrow may find the scene of yesterday's harrowing and dancing shops nothing but a memory.

River Takes Hand. The Mississippi's fingers have been at the old settlement's throat for more than a decade, but its last and most effective thrust came several weeks ago. Falling of the stream after a season of rampage was accompanied by caving of a large section of the bluff which supported the underworld dives of a century ago.

Before 1811 the lowland on which Natchez Under the Hill was built extended far out from the bluffs into what is now the river's bed. The cut came in, more than 150 feet long and 70 feet wide, has eaten away the bluff until it is perilously narrow. Further caving, already predicted by large cracks in the terrain, may bring the river bank abruptly to the base of the bluffs.

Observers differ as to causes of the extensive caving, but the fact remains that a 30-foot-deep chasm has followed corrosion of the river's bank or action of subterranean springs. River men explain that diversion of the river's current from the levees at Vidalia has placed an added strain on the opposite bank; but negro roustabouts insist that the destruction of Natchez Under the Hill is Father Mississippi's well planned scheme for cleaning his slate of century-old mistakes.

Distinct Communities. Since earliest days of Mississippi history Natchez and Natchez Under the Hill have been distinct and separate communities. In steamboat days river rats lived "under the hill," while their more fortunate brethren occupied palatial mansions on the majestic bluffs where Natchez was founded.

Natchez-on-the-Hill was for the aristocrats. Natchez Under the Hill was for the scum.

Time has removed barriers between the on-the-bluff and under-the-hill folk, but even today the atmosphere of the historic city is not the environment of the remains of the notorious settlement.

Gifts for Home Lovers

Here is the place to find gifts for folks whose hobby is Home. You know a lot of such people.

Yes, there are a lot of such folks, who would like these home gifts. Check over your list and see who should receive an end table for a lamp and books, who should have a small, bright rug, a smoking stand, a lamp, an easy chair or a wing chair or a pull-up chair. Get the family to conspire with you in giving themselves a new sofa, a suite of furniture for the bed room or dining room... and if you seek more ideas, come see our lovely display.

A gift from the family to all the family always turns out to be the best kind of a gift and very inexpensive.

32-Round Armory Card Promises Action Tonight

A grand affair that will equal, if not surpass all high class boxing shows ever held at the armory is expected to be the product of tonight's card at the big drill shed. Captain E. M. Lawson has scheduled a 32 round card program that he is confident will please the big turnout of fans which the sales presage.

Expectations have been made to feature a crowd, because of interest shown by fans in the card. They began commenting very favorably on the show no sooner than Captain Lawson had announced the program that he and Jimmy Ambrose, National Grand matchmaker, had framed for tonight.

As every fan knows, the feature will be an eight rounder between Nick Zinna of this city and Charles Hanford, lightweight terror of the 35th Infantry, New York City. The match promises to be one of the most thrilling ever staged at the drill shed, because both are hot after tonight's decision.

Zinna is out to prove that he can decisively triumph the husky negro, who was able to withstand the barrage of dynamic wallop that "Kid" Buckman, local knockout artist, tossed at him two weeks ago tonight in the armory. Several times Hanford was on the verge of going down from the Buckman attack, but he weathered the storm and stayed with the Kid to take the decision.

Hanford advances the argument that Zinna or any other lightweight in this city is not too much for him. He is afraid of no one in his division and fears nothing from the hands of the so-called lightweight champion of the Hudson valley. The dusky infantryman promises to thrash Nick and says that he will be ready to stage a harder battle against him than he did in his meeting with Buckman.

One interested spectator at tonight's mill will be Buckman. He will challenge the winner of the Hanford-Zinna go. Who will win he has no idea and furthermore does not care. He would, however, like another crack at Hanford regardless of the outcome tonight.

Preceding the feature go will be the eight round semi-final between Little Johnny Blaine of this city and Frankie Minerva, the bounding bantam from New York. Frankie will come to Kingston with every intention of pushing over Blaine. Johnny is out to end the fight as early as possible, so all indications point to a real active struggle.

One heavyweight scramble will be put on tonight. Frank Dangelo, Nick Zinna's cousin, who has been taking lessons from him, will trade wallops with Joe Postal of New York. Dangelo is practically a green man when it comes to ring tactics, but those who have seen him work out predict a win for him owing to his ability to send over a real healthy punch. Postal is a tough customer, a rough and ready scrapper. It is said, so Dangelo will have his hands full. The set-to is scheduled for six frames.

There will be another six rounder, bringing together Rocky Rafanelli of Fort Hamilton and Roy Asher of West Point. Both soldiers lost to Johnny Hayes in the local armory and are eager to win tonight in order to get a return match with the clever Connecticut boy.

Tommy Long and Patty Downs, both of this city, who fought a draw early in the season at the armory, will settle their dispute tonight in the four-round curtain raiser. Their last match was a real thriller but tonight's wrangle promises to surpass it by a great margin. The starting time is set for 8:20.

Games Tonight in High School Gym

Tonight in the Kingston High School gym the school varsity will meet the Roamers in the Maroon's opening game of the season. The school team has been going through daily drills for two weeks and they have fine team work from all standpoints. On the other hand in the Roamers Coach Klas's men are clashing with a first-rate team composed of men well versed in the court game. Last Tuesday night the Y. M. C. A. Senior team was the victim of the Roamers. All indications point to a close well fought game, which will begin at 8:30. The preliminary tilt starts at 7:15.

This will be the school team's first test and just how strong the squad is to take up its DUSO League schedule will be partly revealed. No first string squad has been picked as yet and just who will start, the same is hard to say, but the following men will be among them: Captain Blackwell, Parks and Clarke.

The season of late golf is now on. It's a different game than summer golf. You go out all bundled up in a leather jacket or a couple of sweaters and then try to swing the club the same way you have been doing all summer, but somehow the ball never seems to go the same way. The old zip isn't there and the ball doesn't get near the distance it did back a month or so earlier.

Walter Eckersall, famous football referee, who in his student days was quarter back at the University of Chicago, will remember the Ohio State triumph over Michigan. A group of players caught Eckersall in a mixup for the ball and he lost two teeth.

STAGG AS COACH LEADS THEM ALL

President Hutchins Lauds Mentor at Banquet

Plans for a $50,000 dormitory for basketball, track, and other sports were outlined by President Hutchins of the University of Chicago at a dinner held in honor of Coach Stagg and the Maroons.

Doctor Hutchins said the board of trustees had approved the measure at its last meeting and construction would begin in the near future. It is understood that the building will be erected on University avenue between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets.

The president went on to voice his views on the Maroon football situation. "We have the greatest coach the country has ever seen," he said. "We have had our share of victories and will have them again. But football is not the most important aspect of education. Victories are still less important. The thing that counts is to have undergraduates and graduates of whom the university will be proud and who will be proud of the university."

Stagg was introduced as the All-American coach of all time.

University of Southern California is angling for a home-and-home game football arrangement with a Big Ten, supposedly Iowa or Northwestern, according to information leaking from the athletic offices at the local school. The Trojans want to play on a Big Ten field in 1930 and have its Big Ten rival return the visit to Los Angeles in 1931. Such an arrangement would balance Coach Howard Jones' football arrangements which call for Notre Dame at Los Angeles next autumn and a visit to South Bend or Chicago in 1931.

Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U. in his report before the organization at St. Louis, urged the employment of a press agent. The A. A. U. in recent years hasn't been put before the public in a favorable light and Brundage thinks the services of such a fellow might make a difference.

Primo Carnera, 233-pound Italian heavyweight, towering 6 feet 10 inches, was awarded the decision over Young Stribling of Atlanta, Ga. on a foul in the fourth round of their scheduled ten-round bout in Albert hall, London. The crowd, which included the prince of Wales and Earl Beatty, did not think much of the decision.

Gabby Hartnett's invaluable throwing arm is about to receive further attention. Between bench warming and occasional visits to doctors and bone stretchers last season, Gabby contributed nothing more than his presence to the pennant winning achievement of the Cubs. His efforts to recover his former skill were more half hearted than otherwise. Now the club is going to take charge of him and there is not going to be any dillying.

For several years Los Angeles led in the size of the purse offered visiting brassie swingers, with $10,000. This year Agta Caliente, the new resort across the Mexican border, has set a record with a $25,000 prize. Miami Beach also passed the Los Angeles offer with $15,000 for the La Gorce tournament. Los Angeles, however, has two sizeable purses, the $10,000 open and the professional golfers' championship, with total prizes of $10,400.

The secretaries of war and the navy would be directed to prohibit West Point and Annapolis from engaging in any athletic contests with other schools until they restored friendly relations under a bill introduced by Representative Edwards, Democrat, Georgia.

If you have a dead sport on your hands you might give it to Los Angeles. That city of the Golden West supports all kind of athletic amusements.

Figures show that Los Angeles folks, to the number of 805,998, saw professional baseball games the past season. The city has two teams, Hollywood also playing there. More than 60,000 persons saw a track meet there last spring. It outdraws any city of its size in the country in yearly football attendance.

As the Southern California squad was howling across the continent toward Chicago for the big game with Notre Dame at Soldier Field a stranger stepped up to Coach Howard Jones of the Trojans on the train and said: "I have a thousand dollars to bet on this game. How shall I bet it?" "I don't know," Jones told him. "And if I did I wouldn't tell you. For me to say who should win would be foolish."

Jones then went on to tell about the season of 1918, when Illinois upset Minnesota's greatest team of all time 14 to 0, only to be the victim in turn of another tremendous upset when Chicago whaled the Illini 20 to 7, and the Gophers then capped it off by walloping the Maroons 49 to 0, proving that football is too uncertain for a man to be advising another man how to risk a thousand dollars.

A British writer explaining baseball to his readers says: "The big hitters appear when the bases are well filled, and the chance is offered to drive in several runs with a great hit." "Oh boy. Now we'll explain cricket."

Spinny's Team Wins Out in Last Quarter

Scores Against With McCormacks of Poughkeepsie Was Final Test for Port Eweners—Dan Joyce Made Factor in Radio Men's Victory.

A harvest of points in the last quarter resulted in a 46-21 victory for Spinney's Radio Five over the McCormacks of Poughkeepsie, Thursday night at the Knights of Pythias Hall in Port Ewen. It was the closest game any team has given the Port Eweners on their own court this season. The score swayed back and forth for three quarters but in the final period Dan Joyce broke loose and won the game almost single handed.

The contest was full of thrills. Poughkeepsie was a little slow in starting but when the second quarter got under way they tied the score and went in the lead only to lose it again and be behind by three points as the half ended. In the early part of the third stanza the visitors again took up the leading position but Port Ewen came it and the points from Pou keep saw the lead time that they were to be in front. When that final period came around a deluge of points washed out all the McCormacks' hopes of winning.

Poughkeepsie had a strong quintet and Spinney's team turned in a well earned victory. Contending with men of Crocker's calibre, former Union College players, the Port guards had their hands full. Little forward from Poughkeepsie was a dangerous man every minute of the game. He was extremely fast got around in an uncanny way and tossed them in from all angles. Silvernail has team mate did some heavy scoring for a guard, gathering 11 points.

Van Etten went strong the first half for Port Ewen. In fact it was his tallying that kept Port in the lead during the early part of the contest, but without a doubt it was Joyce who was directly responsible for the Radio Five's decisive victory. This long shot artist didn't go in for long shots Thursday night but instead tore down the left side of the court tossed them one handed and nine times out of ten they found the hoop. This boy was possessed by the spirit of a scoring demon.

First Quarter. Joyce made five points right at the start but his first field goal was matched by one of Silvernail's. Van Etten followed with two shots from scrimmage then Crocker began his campaign by tossing in a two-pointer. The score stood 9 to 4 in Port Ewen's favor as the quarter ended. Plenty of shots were taken by both teams in this quarter but the score was low. Poughkeepsie's playing revealed the story then that it was to be a close battle before it ended. Their pass-work was good and they had men that could do the scoring.

Second Quarter. Van Etten added two more points to their previous tally and then Poughkeepsie took to making their score bigger. Silvernail made a field and a foul shot and then Crocker made himself outstanding when he sank one from the side of the floor, tying the score at 11 points. Then Poughkeepsie went into the lead for the first time when Silvernail made a free throw. The score was 12 to 11. However, Van Etten made five points in a row bringing their side of the score up to 16. It was the case of a score for a score and the half ended with Port Ewen having the small margin of three points, 18 to 15.

Third Quarter. Poughkeepsie was off at the sound of the whistle and Crocker sunk a two-pointer which was blotted out by Hyatt's score but Crocker then tossed again another to duplicate the fact and Poughkeepsie again went in front, 21 to 20. This lead didn't last long before Port Ewen came back by virtue of Van Etten's shot from scrimmage. The tally stood 22-21 in Spinney's favor after all this took place. It appeared for the remainder of the quarter that each team was taking its turn at scoring for Port Ewen led but by a point, 26-25, when the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter. The final period was marked by plenty of action and it was also marked by Joyce's playing. He made nine of his 16 points in this period and aided by Van Etten with Smith and Hyatt also having a hand in it Poughkeepsie was repulsed at last and Port Ewen went on a scoring rampage. From the beginning of the period Poughkeepsie began to slide into the gloom of defeat and they were hurried along by Port's heavy scoring. The visitors' defense seemed to take no effect and so the game went on and ended 46 to 34, with Spinney's Radio quintet in the lead.

The score: Spinney Five. FG. FP. Tot. Joyce, rf. 7 2 16 Van Etten, lf. 9 4 22 Hyatt, c. 2 0 4 Smith, rg. 1 0 2 A. Short, lg. 1 0 2 Total 20 6 46

Highland Court Game Tonight

Tonight at Smith's Hall, Highland the regular weekly basketball game will be played by Highland Company and the Bayonne City team with a reputation that makes the firemen will have a hard and fast in order to keep straits and keep from sinking.

The fire ladders are out to win regardless of the reputation of theponents. It gives pleasure to Highlanders to know that they take on boys from the state of New York for they wish to avenge a defeat they last week by the son brothers of Jersey City. The back was the first of the season Highland and was made doubly to bear owing to the close season which the team lost. The tally 29-28.

Tonight's game promises to be as thrilling as last week's and a good crowd is expected to witness it.

INDUSTRIAL BASEBALL LEAGUE HAD MEETING

Vice President Frank Flannery presided over a very busy meeting of the Industrial Baseball League held Thursday night at Cohen's Sons clothing store and commended the players for successful season they brought by their efforts last summer. He hoped that the one next season would be as progressive as the season. Tentative plans were discussed concerning the springing of the league.

Yellow Jackets Season Ended Thanksgiving Day

The Yellow Jacket football team, composed of 66, Troy Ramblers 9; November 17, Yellow Jackets 13; Johnston Ramblers 4; November 24, Yellow Jackets 13; Watervliet Redskins 9; Thanksgiving Day, November 28, Yellow Jackets 9; Schenectady Royals 6.

The total number of points scored by the Yellow Jackets during the season was 111; points scored against them numbered 54. The biggest margin by which they overcame any team was the 68-0 score in their game with the Troy Ramblers. The Yellow Jackets' worst defeat was the one they took from the West Point Cavalry. The score was 31-0.

Beany Leading Scorer.
Don Beany, Kingston's crashing fullback, took the season's honors for scoring touchdowns. He crossed the goal line four times, twice in the Troy Ramblers game. Charlie Burton, right halfback, scored three; Captain Jole Hoffman, quarterback, two; Lee Harbrouck, left halfback, two; Strinsky, left halfback, two; Vince Rice, right end, one; Harry Scheffel, left end, one; Phil McDonald, left tackle, one, and "Red" Chapman, who quit the team after the third game of the season, which was with the Cavalry, one.

The coaches, Carl Preston and "Batts" Wheeler, proved popular with the boys during the season. They worked hard to put a winning team in the field and their efforts were highly appreciated. Managers Leo Smith and Ed Fitzgerald brought teams here that gave the Yellow Jackets a chance to show their wares in top-notch fashion and their work has been commended by enthusiasts of the grid sport.

Captain Jole Hoffman, who headed the team for the second time, having been captain last season also, did more than his share to keep the Yellow Jackets in fighting spirit. It was through his efforts largely that Kingston had a football team the past season. He started the ball rolling early in the fall but it was not until after several weeks of hard plugging and several unsuccessful meetings that his dreams of a team materialized. After things got going, however, matters ran smoothly and thus the successful ending of the 1929 season here.

The financial standing of the Yellow Jackets has not been announced. Estimates, however, indicate that the team will not have any great amount in the treasury. Expenses, including substantial guarantees that had to be paid visiting teams, and several Sundays of inclement weather, prevented the team from piling up big profits.

A dance will be held by the Yellow Jackets on December 18 in Knights of Columbus Hall, Broadway and Andrew street. Tickets soon will be issued and are expected to be in great demand.

Yellow Jacket Meeting.
The Yellow Jackets will meet tonight at 7:30 in the American Legion Memorial Building to make plans for the dance and discuss other important matters. It is important that every member of the squad be present.

Sport Slants
By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Football fame and fate seems to be about as fickle as anything else in sport. Consider the case of Georgia Tech, the Golden Tornado of 1928 that has slowed down this fall to the proportions of a mild breeze.

When Captain Peter Pund led his forces off the field at Rose Bowl, Pasadena, last New Year's Day, victors in one of the most remarkable of all intercollegiate games, Georgia Tech was King of the Gridiron. The Tornado finished with one of the few unbeaten records of the season, numbering Notre Dame among its victims for the first time. There was not much dispute to Tech's claim to the national football title.

Now Coach Bill Alexander's boys face their old rival, Georgia, in the final game after a disastrous campaign. There haven't been any alibis or cries of distress from "Alex," as fine a sportsman as there is in the coaching brigade, but it was one of the big shocks of 1929 to have Tech drop five games after so brilliant a campaign the year before. After an early season setback at the hands of North Carolina, sounding the warning, Tech lost four in a row to Tulane, Notre Dame, Vanderbilt and Alabama. Only Florida, among the major opponents, was beaten by the Tech outfit that still possessed threats in such backs as Thomas and Mizell, even though the loss of most of the 1928 line, by graduation or injuries, was keenly felt.

The injury jinx struck the great and the near-great without special favor in the football season now being wrapped up in debate and statistics.

Two of the East's greatest, Al Marsters of Dartmouth and Albin Booth of Yale, had their bright stars take somersaults toward the close after each had hit the heights in the memorable duel at New Haven. Marsters was abruptly put out of action by a spine injury, suffered in the Yale game. Booth sprang a "charley horse" that was surrounded by considerable mystery, following the Maryland game. The mighty atom of the Elm, after sensational performances in four straight games, did not play at all against Princeton and failed to decide against Harvard in two full periods of play. At Cambridge, it seemed he was experiencing more of an off-day than the ill effects of any injury. Harvard was not to stop him just the way Minnesota was primed to swear the famous Red Grange in 1925—and succeeded.

A broken leg removed Hank Brader, Northwestern backfield ace, from the fray early in the season.

It was a coincidence that against Northwestern, Notre Dame's fighting center, Big Tim Moynihan, sustained a similar injury that kept him from finishing the season against West Point. Fate was particularly wicked to Moynihan, big and likeable, the "team leader," but a reckless, aggressive type of player apt to run the risk of just such an injury as he suffered. Big Tim nevertheless takes his place along with such other fine centers of Notre Dame as Adam Walsh and Bud Roaringer.

Stanford was handicapped much of the season by injuries to such outstanding players as Walt Heinrich, center and the hard-hitting Herb Fleishacker. These two had about as much to do with wrecking the Cardinal array last year and it will be no particular goods news to West Point to know that they both will be in first class shape for the return game at Palo Alto on December 25.

Dynamic "Doc" Meanwell After Tenth Net Title

By STANLEY KALISH

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Madison, Wis., (AP)—Twenty years in basketball has not robbed Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of any of his enthusiasm, or his ambition to win championships.

The dynamic little coach of the University of Wisconsin has only two regulars back, yet he expects to be up among the conference leaders this year. Meanwell has been at Wisconsin 15 years.

Meanwell's Wisconsin first met with Michigan for last year's final. Nine times his teams have been out in front, seven in the Western conference and twice in the Missouri Valley where he coached the University of Missouri. Meanwell's teams won 239 games and lost 61.

He was a pioneer in teaching the five-men defense and short passing game. On only three occasions has a Meanwell-coached squad finished below third in a conference race.

No coach in the Western conference, where he is the dean of them, approaches his record.

Meanwell, 20 years younger than he is now, and just fresh from the University of Maryland where he had received a physician's degree, was working at a Baltimore settlement house when he conceived the five-man defense and short pass attack.

He assembled two teams, one of 55-pound players less than 16 years old, and the other of 115 pounds.

Meanwell taught them his plays, the criss-cross, pivot and pass, five men down the floor. The settlement house won 60 of 61 games that year.

DR. WALTER E. MEANWELL.

Every few years a new system of basketball is tried out, and it is claimed Meanwell's system is obsolete. The next year Wisconsin wins two seasons he was there.

The Radior each small of stature, is partial to tall players. He never played basketball himself.

The ANTI-FREEZE with 950,000 users

It won't evaporate - No replacements - One filling lasts all winter

THOUSANDS of motorists are bullied by their cars all winter. They fear a freeze-up. They put in anti-freeze but it evaporates. They keep running for more solution. They worry every time they park their cars in the open or in an unheated garage.

Last year 950,000 motorists learned a better method. They tightened cooling systems, put in one filling of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine and said good-bye to freezing worries for the entire winter.

They knew glycerine couldn't evaporate. It won't boil off.

They were safeguarded for the season, not only against freezing, but against the worry and bother that ordinary anti-freeze solutions cause.

G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine offers the same dependable protection for your car this year. It meets all the U.S. Bureau of Standards requirements of a perfect anti-freeze. It has no odor, will not harm the car finish nor attack the cooling system.

One filling now protects your car for the entire winter. Get it today.

Laugh at freeze-ups
Your anti-freeze won't evaporate

You see them all winter. Cars frozen-up and steaming in spite of the fact that an anti-freeze was used. Why are they still in the freeze-up class? Because the anti-freeze evaporated and left them without adequate protection. G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine can't evaporate. Its protection lasts all winter.

950,000 Motorists used it last year!

Think of the worry and trouble G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine saves. Put in one filling. Then park your car when and where you like all winter without a thought of freeze-up worry.

Won't evaporate. Put it in now.

Get full benefit of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine's lasting positive protection. The sooner it's in your car the sooner your protection starts—and it lasts all winter anyway. Just follow the instructions on the can. Get it from your garage, or from any dealer displaying the G.P.A. sign.

Oklahoma Turns Out Champ Stock Judges

Chicago (AP).—J. B. Taylor certainly knows his T-bones.

Taylor is coach of the non-collegiate stock judging team from Claremore, Okla., which won first place at the 1929 international livestock exposition here.

Although he is only 27 years old, Taylor has now achieved two judging championships at the international show in three years with his team from Rogers county, where he is the county agent.

In both instances his boys have been from the farms of the county, trained under his hand for several years. His team also won the championship in 1927.

Taylor is a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M. college. His system, he says, is just hard work.

"Any boy or girl with ordinary intelligence and a real liking for the work," he said, "can become a champion livestock judge. But it takes a steady and serious application."

Oklahoma has had, for the last five years almost, the exclusive championship rights to the non-collegiate judging contest at the international exposition. In five years the state has won four first places and one second. First places were won in every year except 1926 when the team was nosed into second place.

Two of these four first places have been won by Taylor's team from Rogers county. The county was named after Will Rogers' father, who also hails from Claremore.

Twenty-five thousand boys and girls are enrolled in the judging training every year in Oklahoma, according to Paul G. Adams, extension livestock specialist of the state college, who accompanied Taylor and his team here this year and who has brought the Oklahoma team to the international exposition every year for nine years.

The county agents conduct judging contests on the farms throughout the county and the training goes on the year around.

The champion team also competes in the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City. Taylor's team took first place as a team there this year and the three members of the team took first, second and third places as individual judges.

The members are Cleat Willhoite, Otis Munson and John Ramsey.

Holiday Plans At the Y. M. C. A.

Plans are well under way to celebrate Christmas, the Christmas holiday and New Year's at the Y. M. C. A.

On Christmas eve, several of the "Y" men, accompanied by several brass instruments, will sing several of the popular Christmas carols from the first floor roof of the Y. M. C. A. building. This event has been tried in several Y's of the state and has proven very popular. The men will undoubtedly be chosen from the Glee Club which is forming at present.

The Christmas week holiday from school will be well filled with programs. The Boys' Division will maintain a full-day schedule with several added events on the schedule. The usual gym schedule will be maintained for the men and it is hoped that several will make New Year's resolutions to get in these classes of calisthenics, volley ball, soccer and other indoor sports which are proving very popular with the men and older boys.

On New Year's day there will be the customary "open house", when everyone is welcome to come to the "Y" and join with the members in a good time. If the demand is great enough there will be a watch-night service on New Year's eve. The open house program has not been fully developed but will undoubtedly contain many features of the previous years as well as many new and added attractions. Suggestions from the public will be gladly received by the staff at the "Y".

Environment

While it is illuminating to see how environment molds men, it is absolutely essential that men regard themselves as molders of their environment.—Lippman.

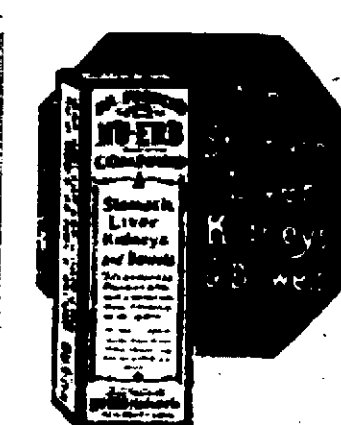

Nu-Erb Restores Health To Plattekill Man

Brings Results in Case of Stomach, Kidney And Liver Troubles After 15 Years Suffering.

Every person should guard their health as their most treasured possession. Yet only too often are we apt to disregard nature's warning until it is too late. When the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels are in an unhealthy condition, many common ills are the result. Among these are indigestion, gas, sour stomach, nervousness, dizzy spells, constipation, rheumatism, neuritis, biliousness, unsound sleep and tired, worn-out feelings. You need not have all of these troubles, for any one of them may indicate that some vital organ is not doing its work normally and be a warning of some serious ailment if not attended to promptly.

For disorders of this kind there is nothing better than Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the famous herbal preparation, which is being introduced in Kingston by McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall street. Never a day passes but that someone is telling of the wonderful good that they have obtained from this medicine. For example, take a recent statement given by Mr. William Decker, Plattekill, Ulster County, N. Y. (near Kingston).

"A disordered condition of my stomach, kidneys and liver had existed for more than fifteen years and as nothing seemed to help me, I feared that the trouble had become so chronic that I never would get any relief. My back ached continually, my kidneys disturbed me at night and I suffered from indigestion and distress in my stomach after meals. I was troubled with dizzy spells, floating spots appeared before my eyes and I was gradually becoming a nervous wreck. My bowels moved with difficulty and was generally rundown.

"After everything else had failed to help me, Dr. French's Nu-Erb has overcome each one of the troubles and restored my health. My stomach and liver ailments are now scarcely noticeable. Nu-Erb has relieved the indigestion, put an end to the backache and sometimes I sleep the night through without being disturbed. It is also cleared up the dizzy spots before my eyes and my nerves are steadier than they have been for years. My bowels are acting regularly every day."

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall street, is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go to the Nu-Erb man now making headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Annual Meeting And Reception

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital was held at the Nurses' Home on Thursday afternoon, the business session presided over by the president, Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy was followed by a delightful reception held in the living room. The place had been very artistically decorated, the mantel being banked with autumn-tinted leaves and flowers, and cheery fires burning in the fire place. The tea table was lovely with two handsome silver services, one at either end, and a very decorative centerpiece of yellow "Butter" chrysanthemums and feathery greenery arranged about silver candelabra holding yellow candles, lighted. In fact the entire lighting of the living room for the reception was out of candles. Mrs. James Jenkins and Mrs. Frank L. Eastman, past presidents, presided at the tea table, while a group of some sixteen charming young girls dispensed the delicious refreshments. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. W. L. Pales and Mrs. Edward B. Loughran. The guests were entertained with a short but very pleasing program, which included a reading from "The Birds' Christmas Carol," by K. D. Wiggins, given admirably by Miss Ruth Gramer; a tap dance, charmingly performed by Miss Christobel Murphy; and a pleasing solo by young Thomas Feeney. Music was furnished by Mr. Winchell, violinist, and John Bott pianist. There were representatives of the Auxiliary from both Sangerites and Benedictine present, tea being served to about a hundred guests.

The ladies receiving were the officers of the Auxiliary, Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, Mrs. Edward J. Keller, Miss Rosecrans, Mrs. John Herriek, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, Mrs. T. Lloyd, Mrs. Mark O'Meara and Mrs. Edgar Shultz.

VERDICT AGAINST UNIVERSAL MACHINERY

A verdict of $500 was returned by a jury in Supreme court at Poughkeepsie Wednesday in favor of the Nardone-Ciferri Sand and Gravel Company of Millbrook against the Universal Machinery Company of this city. The plaintiffs sued for $500 which they paid on a sand and gravel screening plant, which was subsequently repudiated by the Universal Company, because the contractors did not give their notes for $2,000 in full payment as they had agreed to do. Nardone and Ciferri charged that the machinery did not work properly and that they refused to meet the payments. E. T. Russell appeared for the plaintiffs and Frank Brooks for the defendants.

Famous House Has Gone

The descendants of the Groat family still live in the vicinity of the famous John O' Groat's house, in England, but a small green knoll marked with the foundation lines is all that remains of the house built probably in the latter part of the sixteenth century.

ON REARING CHILDREN FOR CREDS TO COLLEGE

Parents usually think of education in children as the immediate and proper response to their commands. They invariably endow education with much virtue it does not possess. This is due to the fact that the obedient child is submissive to parental authority which in itself gives parents a sense of power.

What kind of a voice should a parent have, and how can she develop it? The tone should be musical, but have sufficient carrying quality to penetrate the child's consciousness and command his attention. At the same time the tone must support and reinforce the meaning of the words.

What can parents do in the years preceding their son's adolescence to fortify him for his exacting ordeal? The answer is simple: They can build his character up to his highest possible point and maintain it there; they can endeavor to realize and understand his psychological state, and help him crystallize substantial thoughts, purposes, and beliefs out of his delicately balanced and easily influenced jumble of ideas.

There are probably few toys which have so many possibilities for constructive play, calling into action so many imaginative faculties and such demands upon ingenuity, originality and skill as the little marionette theater. And there are probably few toys which mean so much joy to the whole family and their friends on long winter evenings and on holidays.

The living room is an index to your family life. It should be a place where comfort, beauty and practicality are skillfully and attractively blended.

It does seem unbelievable that any woman should refuse to nurse her baby if she can, since it is a matter of sure statistics that the breast-fed baby has from two to four times as good a chance of living to be one year old as does a "bottle baby," whatever is put into the bottle.

Interesting fathers in the school is one of the finest things a Parent-Teachers' association can do. Plan two or three programs a year that will have a strong pulling power for fathers.

A new method of attack against measles will temporarily produce immunity to the disease. This same serum is thought by some to have value in the treatment of the disease after it has once developed, especially in checking the severity of the attack. Likewise, in the case of whooping cough, a vaccine is now used to shorten the course of the disease and lessen its force, as well as for prevention. Its value, however, is still in question.

Figure, now that it has become dictator of fashion, is determining the waistline placement and skirt length of the 1930 frocks, asserts Bettina Bedwell in Liberty Magazine.

Lucien Lelong, noted couturier, says, according to Miss Bedwell, "Waistlines can be where they ought to be, according to the figure which the dress adorns—and skirt lengths ditto." Miss Bedwell continues, "These words should later genuine comfort for the sorrowing sisters who have shuddered at the bare thought of wearing a high waistline or letting down their skirts, or worse yet, submitting to the pangs of a corset in order to be chic according to regulations."

Applique Tabbing Add to This Circular Skirt

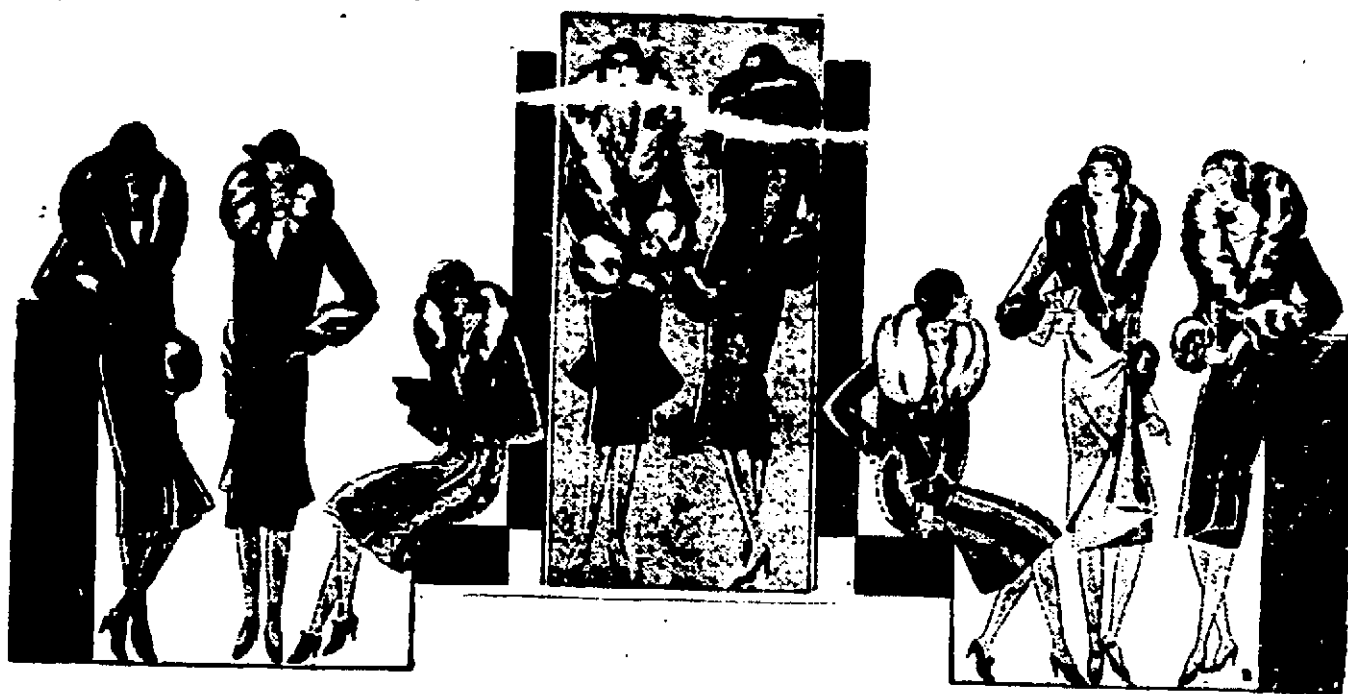

Very chic is this formal daytime ensemble developed in a new woven fabric of graceful suppleness. The circular skirt reveals unusual applique tabbing. The tulle blouse of eggshell satin shows smart shirring at the neckline and three-quarter length skirt.

SOMETHING MORE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE preacher had not always proved

That there's a heaven beyond the stars.

And then across my screen she moved, And healed my wounds, and hid my scars.

I knew her mothering smile; She mothered all the men she met; And all men her Madonna smile Remember yet.

Because her company was peace, And dignity her locks of gray, The bitterness of life would pass away.

And even now, when passions stir, When men grow angry, as men will, They only need to think of her, And all is still.

And now they tell me she is gone. "Gone where?" our hungry hearts reply;

And every man's heart answers "On"— For so much goodness could not die. Yes, if I doubted heaven before, "That there was heaven for men like me."

I know there must be something more For such as she. (© 1929, Douglas Malloch.)

Through a Woman's Eyes

By Joan Houston

ARE YOU ASHAMED TO SAY "I DO NOT KNOW?"

DO YOU know the meaning of "psychoterminality"? Nobody else does, either. There's no such word.

But ask that question of ten of your friends and see how many start to "hum" and "ha" and fish about for some kind of a definition that is a good guess, or rather a good bluff.

A large percentage will. They are the ones who haven't yet acquired the poise to admit that there is something they do not know. And I am sorry to say it, the proportion of those who fall into your little trap will probably be greater among women than among men. For while many women think as straight as any man, women in general cannot match men in general when it comes to the faculty of thinking straight, of calling a spade a spade, and of not trying to fool themselves. The average man when asked about something that he does not know will more readily admit that he does not know than the average woman. She will be more inclined to bluff it out, not so much from motives of dishonesty as from a penchant for fooling herself.

With reference to this art of bluffing, certain tests were made recently at the University of Cincinnati in which the students were asked to define words that did not exist, to place quotations from Shakespeare which were made up for the occasion, to designate the authors of certain books which had never been written. And the tests revealed that the freshmen bluffed the most and seniors the least; that the least bluffing was done by students who ranked highest academically, the highest record for exhibitions on non-existent subjects coming from those whose general record at college was lowest.

That, of course, brings us back to the old story that the person who knows most knows when he does not know. Only the fool "knows it all."

A girl complained to me that the old women in her family were oppressive in their insistence on "knowing it all," even in matters that were entirely foreign to them. She asked me if this were a quality common with old people. If it is, in my opinion, they are old people who have gone sterile mentally, whose minds have atrophied. Otherwise they would not have this quality in common with those who never had anything to give mentally. Old people whose minds are strong and active are the last ones in the world to be guilty of "knowing it all." For one of the compensations of old age, a healthy old age, is its tolerance, its understanding, its real wisdom.

Dear Editor:

I'm the guy who always reads the life insurance ads and worries about tomorrow. Now I'm captivated by the care-free spirit of the South.

Maybe the "don't worry" spirit starts with the colored people. They live in one-thickness houses, and wear, maybe, one-layer clothes. They ride in cars miraculously held together, and when something goes wrong they climb under, and somehow get the machinery to functioning again. And without worry.

Five-passenger cars have carry-alls. Folks down here have made up their minds to enjoy life. You get hot breads at every meal—a little added luxury that warms your heart. Of course, it may work havoc with your digestion, but I can't worry about that today.—Fred Barton.

Worthy Memorial To Franklin

Philadelphia, Dec. 6 (AP).—A great memorial to Benjamin Franklin, costing $5,000,000, is to be erected on the parkway in this city.

Plans for the structure were announced last night at a dinner given by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, to nearly 500 distinguished guests.

A resolution was adopted by the diners endorsing the memorial and pledging "our hearty support."

Mr. Curtis is president of the Benjamin Franklin Memorial, Inc., which, in cooperation with the Franklin Institute, plans to erect the building.

It will be three stories in height. A feature of the first floor will be the great Zeiss Planetarium, showing an artificial sky, the sun, moon, planets and 9,000 fixed stars, each precisely where it belongs and each with its proper relative brightness.

This floor also will contain a chamber devoted to a graphic description of underground and under-sea work, a great exhibition hall, auditorium, court of honor and exhibits showing the progress of mankind in the development of electrical communication, water supplies, railroad transportation, physics and chemistry.

A heroic statue of Franklin will occupy the center of the great rotunda.

The upper floors will contain astronomical observatories, engineering exhibitions, industrial plants and processes, models of ships and aircraft and a scientific library.

Delicious Tropical Fruit

The guava is a tropical American fruit, oval shape, of a greenish yellow color. The pulp is water-colored and has a sweet smell and a pleasant sweet taste, but contains many black seeds. The plant is grown in conservatories in North America and Europe for the lovely blossoms.

Varying Trade-Mark Laws

In discussing the principles of trade-mark laws existing in the world two separate systems of law have to be considered, one system being that in force in the United States, Great Britain, France and a few other countries where the first user of a trade-mark is protected, and the other system where ownership is based on registration of the mark. This latter system is used more generally throughout the Latin countries of the world. The law of the United States is practically unique in one respect, in that it requires as a basis of the right to register that the mark shall have been applied to goods sold in interstate or foreign commerce, this requirement following the clause of the Constitution in which trade-mark rights are recognized.

Divorce Easy for Dyaks

The Siam Dyak country of Dutch Borneo is a paradise for divorced husbands, as alimony is not known there and freedom can be purchased for a song. John H. Provine, University of Chicago anthropologist with the All-American Lyric Anthropological and radio research expedition reported. Divorce is practiced freely among the Dyaks and marital ties are easily severed. As in this country, cruelty, infidelity and desertion are grounds for divorce. With the payment of a trifling penalty the freed husband's responsibility ceases.

South African City Life

The Anti-South Africa, has denied stories that thousands of rats came into the town to die and spread the plague, but it admits there are some of the rodents there. It declares that 25 per cent of the people never saw a rat, alive or dead. It also admits that at times there are dust storms and tropical heat, with bitter cold in June and July. Most of the water is obtained underground, and often there is a shortage, so a plan to have it piped from a distance is being considered.

How It Started

ORIGIN OF BUCKET SHOP.

THE numerous brokerage failures that took place some time ago in New York and the subsequent investigation into the questionable practices of brokers, brought into bold relief the "bucket shop," the disreputable concern which does not, like the honest broker, depend for profit on legitimate commissions, but exists, instead, on the losses of its customers. And this is the way it works out:

Instead of buying the security which his customer orders on margin, as honest brokers do, the bucketeer in effect appropriates the money banking on a fall in the price of the security. When this occurs and the customer's margin is lost to all intents and purposes wiped out, he has profited by that amount. It is in times of a rising market when stock and bond quotations rise, and speculators send in orders to "sell" and remit the profit that bucket shops go to the wall. For not having bought the security, they have nothing to sell and cannot remit a profit. All their activities, it will be seen, are a gamble against their customers' chances.

Such practices on the part of brokers had their origin with the introduction of the ticker system, by which prices quoted on the great exchanges are instantly disseminated and form the basis for speculation all over the country.

About fifty years ago, very soon after the Chicago Board of Trade started to make public these quotations, there sprang up the original "bucket shop," which was a betting place, where the keeper matched his judgment of future prices of grain, cotton and securities against that of his patrons. This was admittedly a betting place, and all who entered there took their chances.

It was when laws were passed to put these people out of business that they started to cloak their operations beneath the guise of honest brokerage transactions and became a far more dangerous element. Rather than the naked wolf than one in sheep's clothing.

Opening elaborate offices and simulating the activities of honest brokers, they turned their attention to soliciting low margin accounts, which made speculation more tempting to the lambs that were to be led to the slaughter. By pretending to buy securities on margin accounts, which were usually wiped out by a slight fluctuation of the market, they gained by the customer's loss.

Gradually they became more and more pretentious until there was no other manifestation to distinguish these birds of prey who started in shabby betting places, from the honest operators who, in good faith, carry on the trade of Wall Street.

Dear Editor:

YESTERDAY we bought a new book, but we can't start to read it till tomorrow. The leaves aren't cut.

You don't need a can-opener to get into a magazine, or a skeleton key to get into a "movie" theater. For $2.50 it looks as if we ought to be able to read a book without hunting up a knife or a nail file.

SHIRL: It's just another one of those things we have to get used to. Like the plan in skirts. I've never yet put of a new shirt without leaving one last pin somewhere near the back of my neck.—Fred Rerton.

THE STRICKEN DEER

"I HAVE a friend of whom I have always thought a great deal, and who, I am sure, always thought a great deal of me. But of late she has acted in such a way toward me that I feel I don't want to have anything more to do with her."

"For the past few months each time we have been together I have left her feeling hurt, even insulted. For there was something in her attitude, her treatment of me that made me smart."

"Now it is true that she has been having trouble—though largely of her own making. It is certainly trouble in her home life. And a common friend of both of us says I must make allowance, that the irritability which I feel is not directed at me, but merely a result of her own unhappiness. My mother says the same, and urges me to be patient with her and not to take seriously her way of acting at this time."

"My attitude is that if it happened once, or twice, that would be all right. But I think it is expecting too much of friendship to make a doormat of herself just because one doesn't happen to be feeling just right or is having trouble with some one else. I think people owe it to their friends to use a certain amount of self-control."

Certainly they do, Marie (that is how the writer signs her letter), and yet we owe our friends a certain amount of understanding. How much and to what limit, depends, doesn't it, upon the depth of our friendship? After all, when we are self-controlled and act just as we should we can get along with anybody, can't we? It doesn't require a real friend to understand us then. It is when everything is going wrong, when things have "gotten" us so that for a while we are not quite ourselves, when we say things we don't mean and treat those we love as if they were enemies; that is the time when only those who really love can understand, and to understand is to forgive.

It is a great mistake, at such a time, to regard your friend's vibrations as directed against you personally. Somewhere I have read that "whoever touches a stricken deer is likely to feel its teeth." And the deer is the mildest of animals.

Modern "Weary Willie"

Quite Fussy Individual

One hot day a wandering "Weary Willie" in a funny cap and ragged clothes, sat at the Andrews farm near Spaulding for food without minding work. As it was just dinner time the Andrews invited him in for the meal.

He looked at his chair at the table for some time, and Mr. Andrews, thinking he was diffident, urged him to sit down and make himself at home. He took out a cloth and dusted the chair first.

When night fell the stranger wanted to sleep in the house, but he had never so positively that Mrs. Andrews told him if he wished to spend the night there he must sleep in the wood shed. He took out all the wood, swept the place and put in a cot bed from the house.

"I want two clean sheets," he demanded belligerently, and then went on to call for a rug to step on in the morning, a chair to place by his bedside, and a mirror.

At dinner he had eaten eleven plates of a meat soup and five dishes of chocolate blanc mange. In the morning he wanted a button to match those on his coat and he obtained it. Then he offered to saw a little wood.

"He sawed about ten little sticks in a jackknifed manner," related Mrs. Andrews, "and then said he would have to go. 'I think 50 cents would be about right for what you owe me, he asserted.'—New York World.

Claims Grow Slowly

From two to four years are required for claims to grow to edible size. The exact time depends on food conditions, temperature of the water and climate. Some claims living under ideal conditions become edible in a year's time.—Boston Herald.

Griest Action Continued Today

Defense Is Expected to Conclude Case this Afternoon and a Sealed Verdict Will Probably be Delivered Monday.

The case of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Griest against the Woodstock Lodge, Inc., an action to recover damages amounting to $2,500 for building on and destroying part of the plaintiffs' property, continued in Supreme Court Thursday afternoon before Judge Charles E. Nichols, with witnesses testifying to the history of the titles of the properties, and the amount of damage done.

James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, testified concerning the exact location of the property after he had surveyed it. He also gave the measurements of the plaintiffs' land.

The first witness for the plaintiffs in the afternoon session of court was Floyd W. Powell, local attorney, who had made a search for the history of the titles for both the plaintiffs' and defendant's lots. Mr. Powell was asked to read his findings with descriptions of the location and measurements of the properties each time they changed hands. Mr. Powell read the title changes from the parent deed, under protest of the defense attorney, Frank W. Brooks. Later the plaintiffs asked to waive the reading of some of the descriptions, but the court upheld the defense and Mr. Powell's findings were read from beginning to end.

The jury, after listening for about 30 minutes to the findings concerning the history of the deeds, decided that it was bored and the members seemingly forgot what they were there for. After the reading had been completed, the defense agreed that it should be admitted in the evidence. One of the findings showed that a six-inch strip of land involved in the properties had been lost in one of the transfers, with the result that no owner of the exact location of the strip could be determined.

Photographs of the building, which is said to rest from 100 feet to 15 feet on the plaintiffs' land, were taken by Mr. Powell and Senator Wiswall. Some 14 of them were introduced in the case. The pictures were taken between the months of December 1928 and last summer.

The last witness to testify Thursday night was George A. Neher of Woodstock, a real estate dealer, who appraised the plaintiffs' property before and after the damage had been done. After his findings had been recorded, court was adjourned until Friday morning.

Stewart Jones Testifies.

The first witness to testify this morning was Stewart Jones of Woodstock. Mr. Jones was well acquainted with the Griest property, stating that he passed it from eight to ten times a week. He described the land, buildings and landscaping before the lodge was built, and valued it at $4,000 at that time. Mr. Jones said that he saw materials for the construction of the lodge stored on the Griest property, and that a cement mixer was also on the property and moved about so that it destroyed about 55 feet of the lawn. He valued that land as worth $2,500 after the lodge had been built, and said that he would consider that $250 a year was reasonable for property on which the lodge was built, but which is claimed belongs to the Griests. With this testimony the plaintiffs rested their case.

George E. Wilbur of West Hurley, was the first witness for the defense. Mr. Wilbur formerly lived in Woodstock where he was a surveyor. He measured the lodge property for the corporation. It was found that the line of the second lot to the north of the lodge property, an old cemetery, had been changed. The original line marked by a fence was five feet to the south of the present line. The measurements taken by Mr. Wilbur were based on the old fence. John Vermillion, the man in charge of the construction of the lodge, helped make the measurements according to Mr. Wilbur.

Victor Lasher, treasurer of the cemetery, was the next witness called. Mr. Lasher had a map of the cemetery property dated 1917, which showed the old line of the property. He stated that the trustees claimed that the new line was five feet to the north of the cemetery's southern boundary. The map was offered in evidence against the protest of the plaintiffs.

Mr. Vermillion, the contractor on the job, was the next witness called. He stated that he did not begin the work, but was called shortly after the foundation was begun. He found that the original plans were too large for the lot, and so took measurements of the property and modified the building plans to suit the lot. The building, he said, covered all but an inch of the lot boundary line. He made his measurements with Mr. Wilbur from the original line of the cemetery. When cross questioned, he claimed that the building did not overlap according to the lot measurements that he found.

The defense is expected to conclude its case this afternoon and a sealed verdict will probably be delivered at the opening of court Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Beehive Population

The number of bees in the average hive during the time of storing surplus honey is between 50,000 and 75,000. During the fall and early winter the colony decreases in number and by spring it is usually reduced to 10,000 or 15,000.

PICKS WRONG MAN TO TRY TO BRIBE

Rumanian Official Now Mourns His Job.

Bucharest.—An official, recently of the state income tax office, is lamenting the choice of a man who bribed his way into the ministry and caused him to catch the proverbial Tartar when looking for nothing worse than a thousand-lei note.

Recently a young man came into his office and offered to pay the income tax of a certain 31 list. The official looked up the record, and said the sum due was 40,000 lei. "But," says Ullman (the newspaper which tells the story), "the official added that it would be a pity to waste so much money on an unappreciative state; he himself was a man of modest tastes but shockingly underpaid. For the insignificant present of 1,000 lei for his private purse, he would produce a state receipt for 40,000 lei, and both parties would be the gainers, while the state would know no better. The young man replied that he was only the secretary, but he thought the proposition would interest him very much. Soon afterward he returned with a thousand-lei note, took a receipt for 40,000 lei taxes paid, and the obliging official went home well pleased with himself."

Alas for him, he was no student of foreign personalities, or he would have known that 31 Charles list, of the Paris Sorbonne, was the adviser to the National Bank of Rumania.

Bar Vane from Seat in Senate

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—The doors of the Senate were closed tightly and definitely today against William S. Vane, for years a power in the politics of Pennsylvania.

By a vote of 53 to 22, it was decided that the $755,000 expenditure of the Philadelphia in the primary election of 1926 and the charges of fraud and corruption in that contest barred him from taking the seat to which he had been certified as elected.

Thaps, a few minutes later, the effort of William B. Wilson, Vane's Democratic opponent, to obtain the place, was thwarted. The Senate approved a resolution by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, based on a report of its elections committee, that the former secretary of labor in the Wilson cabinet had not been elected.

The end of the Vane controversy, which has occupied the Senate for three years, left the question of a new Senator from the Keystone State in the hands of Governor Fisher. He is a Republican and his appointment of a man for the place will not change the complexion of the state's representation, but it will give the state two votes where it had only one—that of Senator David A. Reed—while the contest was going on.

FAMILY AT FUNERAL THEIR HOUSE ON FIRE

While the body of Mrs. Sarah Briehaupt was being conveyed to the Methodist Church at Glenside on Wednesday afternoon the Wabash Brothers Company fire truck went by and unknown to the mourning family was on the way to the home of Fred Briehaupt, whose mother's body was being taken into the church. An alarm had been sent in as the chimney was on fire, but not until later. The fire was extinguished with chemicals.

Legion District Conference Here

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the American Legion Memorial Building in this city, there will be a third district conference of the American Legion of New York.

Legionnaires will be present from Albany, Bessborough, Columbia, Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Schoharie counties. The meeting will be presided over by Ray Burgess of Albany, who is third district chairman and a member of the New York state executive committee, of which State Commander Jack Bennett is chairman.

The American Legion in New York is divided into nine judicial districts, each district comprising a certain number of counties. Each county is presided over by a county commander and each district by a district chairman. The nine district chairmen, with the state officers, comprise the state executive committee.

At the meeting here Sunday many subjects pertaining to the work of the American Legion and the welfare of the war veterans will be discussed. It will be of great interest to all Legionnaires, and each member has the privilege of the floor.

All Legionnaires in the city are asked to attend the meeting and see the visiting comrades from other counties in the district. The other district conferences

Past Commander Guest of Legion

Mayor Dempsey, who always has been a staunch supporter of the Legion, presided at the dinner for the Kingston Post.

Moving pictures of the Legion's national convention at San Antonio, Texas, in 1922, which were shown here, did not arrive in time. However, William O'Reilly, Jr., of this city, screened some scenes of the convention that he took during the summer's convention here. Legionnaires from various parts of the county gave reports. They were very interesting, especially those given by Walter Baxter of Northampton and Clarence Voss of Poughkeepsie.

County Commander Haskins urged that there be a large turnout at the next dinner of the Legion Service Club. One to be held in the Memorial Building each month and is open to any Legion man who wishes to make reservation.

Suggests Name For Bridge.
Edwin L. Clark of Highland suggested to the Poughkeepsie Evening Star the new bridge over the Hudson at Poughkeepsie be named "The Poughkeepsie-Highland Bridge," which will be held throughout the year in this district will be held in other counties. This will be the only one held in Ulster county.

Two Orchestras At Police Ball

So that there may be continuous dancing at the second annual ball of the Kingston Police Association at the armory last Wednesday evening it has been arranged to have two orchestras to furnish the music. The Victorian Orchestra, widely known to radio fans will be present as well as Harry Massena's Commanders. The well known local orchestra.

The entertainment program will be exceptionally interesting. Among the acts will be Alvin and Wood in an act entitled "Thinking Their Own Thoughts"; Pete Murray and Ed McGowan who sing popular songs, and Jack and Yvonne in a burlesque act. There will also be dancing numbers by girls who have been appearing in some of the leading night clubs in New York city. The master of ceremonies will be Joe Humphries, famous sports announcer of Madison Square Garden.

Would Abolish Farm Loan Board.
Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—Abolition of the federal farm loan board and transfer of its functions to the federal farm board was asked in a bill introduced today by Senator Brookings, Republican, Iowa. A similar measure has been offered in the house of representatives by Representative Dickinson, also an Iowa Republican.

Birds and Golf

An interesting proposal to further the preservation of bird life has been made by the National Society of Audubon Societies, says the New York Post. It suggests that golf courses be made into bird sanctuaries. If the idea is carried out, golf courses would be closed and not open to the public when it is discovered that among the names of a clubhouse turned to encourage the movement are those of no less authority of birds than Frank M. Chapman and of no less authority of golf than Robert T. Jones. Certainly the golfers should be able to put up with the birds. But at eighteen-hole courses, for all the wide expanse of green, it is not as ideal home for any bird or animal. It is a little dangerous and a little confusing. Nevertheless, if those who know best the habits of birds think that they could enjoy fairways, bunkers, greens and water hazards we hope that the golf clubs will do what they can to attract them. Anything which helps to preserve bird life deserves wide support.

The animal hunters of the world's wild places are among the first victims of civilization's conquest over nature. With unrestricted hunting privileges such as obtained in pioneer days, the extinction of valuable species is inevitable if a curb is not placed on the huntsman in time. Many American species would have met the fate of the buffalo and the wild pigeon if game laws had not been enacted. Most birds and birds now are protected at least in the breeding season, and the countryside again is becoming well stocked. Migratory birds are the subject of international treaties, and even the propagation of fish has become a state function.

Van Orman seems to have won the international balloon race without breaking any records. Public interest in these annual contests is not now keen, says the Hartford Daily News. They have little value otherwise than as the drift of the gas bags may throw some light on the movement of atmospheric currents for the benefit of the meteorologists. The plane and the dirigible have taken serious attention away from the helpless balloon. It has never helped the world much of itself that a non-motored air craft might float in the sky for one hour or for forty-eight, except as we ascribe merit to the work of balloons for military observation purposes during the Civil war and afterward. The parachute literally came from the balloon. The monoplane, the biplane, the "blimp" and the beautiful Los Angeles have superseded it.

Because I am seventy-six years old I do not believe I am wise; on the contrary, I have been remarking lately that there does not seem to have ever been a wise man in human history. Some have had more intelligence than others and more experience, but the mistakes of the more notable ones have led me to conclude that no endowment of wisdom is impossible in creatures of our kind. The best we can do is to experiment candidly and extensively and come to such conclusions as are warranted, says E. W. Howe's Weekly. Any man who is prejudiced is unable to come to sound conclusions; and we are all prejudiced. That seems the reason we cannot become wise.

Precisely anticipating air competition, a research engineer for General Motors says that within ten years automobiles will safely travel 100 miles an hour, weigh less than 1,000 pounds, sell for less than $1,000, and cover eighty miles on a gallon of gasoline. He may know his automobiles, remarks the Rutland Herald, but aviation shatters on the other hand say that there "would be no such animal" as automobile traffic in ten years. Both may be oversteering a trifle.

The National Tuberculosis association observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of its formation recently, and was able to say to the world that in the last quarter of a century the death rate from the disease against which it battles has fallen off in the United States from 70 per hundred thousand to 7.5 per hundred thousand. Since 1904 vaccines have been cut more than 67 per cent.

Treasury officials say American tourists pay heavy customs overcharges on merchandise purchased abroad. By the time they come home they are accustomed to overcharges and don't let a little thing like that bother them.

Eastern papers are conducting a controversy over the identity of the inventor of the doughnut. It is hoped that the older question as to the difference between doughnuts and fried cakes will be settled incidentally.

Stunt flying causes admiration, but not much confidence in the mind of the person who thinks of buying a plane. It means spectacular glory for the aviator, but not much practical publicity for the manufacturer.

"Canned" Music Must Be Labeled.
Washington, Dec. 6 (AP).—All broadcast stations were ordered by the radio commission today to announce clearly and distinctly the character of all mechanical reproductions broadcast by them; the announcement to immediately precede the broadcasting of each record.

How many people there are was never so much appreciated as it is now

If the calendar is changed we might be told from the fact that the winter months were extremely busy, etc.

Bakers have become shorter as the years go on, and will not be a good deal about having longer and better looking bakers.

The American Medical Journal says that "radiation has to be given a bad name," but the point is that radiation is a name in science.

Just for a diversion the Office of the United States of America where the "customer is always right" and it asked that he was wrong.

Professional humorists make a great deal of it at this season, although personally we never knew one to find a punnier in last winter's coat.

A survey of budgets of New York working girls shows that they spend one-fourth of their income for clothes, but where are the clothes?

"A hotel guest in Kansas City has lost a pair of shoes, size 12." Now it had been a handsome pair we would say to look in one of the shoes.

"I am looking for something with curls and uncertainty—a life of adventure." "Have you thought of starting up a book traffic in Boston?"

It is wise to be interested in a good many things, not because they are worth being interested in, but because of the mental therapeutic effect.

A contest was held in Canada to find the dog having the most fleas. We believe it was not a handiwork, and that all the entrants started at scratch.

Overheard on the bus: "He's quite erudite, isn't he?" "I should say he is. The other day he attributed a line of Shakespeare to a poet I never heard of."

What ever became of the pug dog that used to sound like a concertina? While on the subject, what became of the concertina that sounded like a pug?

A Chicago driver "tensed" a street car by getting in front of it and driving slowly. It could have been a little worse. He might have chided a locomotive.

Buy Woodstock Valley Hotel New Credit Plan Approved

Arrangement was made here a few days ago of the sale by the owners of the Woodstock Valley Hotel situated in the center of Woodstock, Ulster and Schoharie counties to a group of Woodstock residents of the hotel and the building which stands on the corner of the intersection of the main road and the main street.

Mr. Wilbur is a former owner of a general store in the town of Woodstock. He also owned a successful boarding house in Lake Hill. The new plan is completely approved by local citizens.

The new owners intend to have a complete renovation of the hotel and to have it open in the spring. The furniture is to be from the best of New York and the new decorations in the main hall is to be done by local artists.

KILLED MESSENGER AND TOOK BAG CONTAINING $34,000.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6 (P).—Cameron Cook, a messenger for the Bank of Philadelphia and Trust Company was shot to death today by three men who seized his bank bag containing, it was estimated, $34,000 in cash and checks. The bandits escaped.

Cook, who was about 50 years old,
had stepped out of a branch post office in the northern part of the city when a man leaped from an automobile and brandished a pistol against him and seized the bag. Two other men remained in the car.

The robber who held the pistol threw the bag in the rear of the car and as he tried to enter Cook attempted to seize him. The robber backed away and fired one shot and Cook fell. The bullet had gone through Cook's head.

DEATH VERDICT FOR MURDER THAT FOLLOWED WILD PARTY

Wheaton, Ill., Dec. 6 (P).—John Preston, 23, who testified he could remember nothing of the wild party that ended in the death by strangulation of Agnes Johnston October 12, was convicted last night of her murder, a verdict calling for the death penalty.

Counsel for Preston had not sought acquittal, but asked the jury to consider Preston's condition as mitigation. Preston claimed he had drunk so much liquor he had no knowledge of what happened.

Miss Johnston was strangled as she fought against Preston's advances. Another girl, Matilda Marpley, escaped. Preston is married.

Lindberghs to Live in New York.
New York, Dec. 6 (P).—The Lind-berghs are at last to have a home.
Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have leased an apartment on Madison street in the exclusive high-priced Sutton place district.
It is a five-room apartment, in a studio apartment building just completed.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 6 (P).—The expected four for one stock splitting by the General Electric Company, one of America's premier industrial corporations, turned the course of stock prices upward today after an early period of irregularity. With the exception of the tobacco, which were heavy on the announcement of cigar price cuts, all leading groups participated in the advance, the gains ranging from 1 to nearly 20 points.

The decrease of $55,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans brought the total to the lowest level in more than two years, and just about half of the record-breaking figure established nine weeks ago. Call money continued to hold firm at 4 1/2 per cent but bankers' acceptances were advanced 1/4 of one per cent.

Allied Chemical was marked up 12 1/2 points, and Brooklyn Union
Gas, Eastman Kodak, Erie Railroad
Common, American and Foreign Power, Columbia Carbon, Standard Gas and Electric, International Harvester and Western Union extended their early gains to 5 points or more by early afternoon.

Pools were again active on a large scale, particularly in the public utility group. Short covering also was a big factor in the day's advance, as a large short interest had been built up in many speculative issues on the theory that the market was entitled to at least a technical reaction.

Elroy & Co., Members N. Y. Stock

VETERANS WILL HOLD
MINISTREL IN FEBRUARY

At the regular weekly meeting of Joyce-Schrick Post, 1256, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held Thursday night in the Dugout on East Chestnut street it was decided to hold the annual benefit minstrel or musical revue during the second week in February.

Monday and Tuesday, February 19 and 20, were the tentative dates set.
It is planned to hold the performances in Kingston High School Auditorium, the same as last year. Application will be made to the Board of Education for the use of the auditorium.

dicted Gladys May Parks on charges of killing two children, her charges Dorothy and Timothy Rogers, four and two children of Alan N. Rogers, of Woodbury, N. J.

PRETTY DIVORCEE SEEKS IDEAL MATE

Fifth Matrimonial Adventure Is Failure.

Omaha, Neb.—Laverne Mae Robinson, pretty twenty-nine-year-old Omaha housewife who has just divorced her fifth husband, says that she has never loved any of the five but she still hopes that real romance lies just ahead. "I have gone into each of my marriages when things seemed dull and I wanted to try something different," she says. "I tire of things easily and when I tire of a husband I leave him."

Although Mrs. Robinson has been married one more time than Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Peggy is more fortunate in that she received alimony from some of her husbands. Mrs. Robinson receives none. She would never marry for money, she says, though when she marries she expects to be supported and most of her husbands have been poor providers.

Her Ideal Husband.
The ideal husband, Mrs. Robinson says, is a blond, older than she, tall but not fat, a good worker and a neat dresser.

Her first husband was the one she "liked" best, she says. He is Frank L. Robinson, thirty-nine, an Omaha salesman. However, she doesn't want to marry any more Omaha men. They don't seem to turn out well as husbands. "However," she says, "I am making a trip to Florida in about a month and maybe down there I'll really fall in love."

Mrs. Robinson, nee Laverne Long, was born on a Nebraska farm, near Gilmore, her parents moving to Omaha when she was a child. When seventeen she became engaged to Edward Bursick, dinner foreman. She suddenly eloped, however, with Fred Burton, a cattle buyer. In 1918, a baby girl, Genevieve, was born to her. This child has remained with her through all her matrimonial adventures. Burton was divorced in August, 1918, on grounds of cruelty.

Marries First Love.
She then married Bursick, her first love. Bursick, who has since re-married, says his marriage with Laverne was "most unhappy." She was divorced from him on grounds of non-support in 1922.

No. 3—she refers to her husbands by numbers—was Edward Moravec of Omaha, who she married in 1924. She married him just to show his mother that she could, she reminisces, because the mother opposed it on the ground that Laverne was not a Bohemian girl.
She lived with him six months, but was never happy with him because his family always came first.

In July, she left him and in December, she got her divorce.

In November, 1926, she married Roy Connor at Fremont, Neb. The ceremony was not valid, however, because her divorce decree from Moravec was not final, less than six months having elapsed. She asked for and received an annulment on this ground.

In April, 1928, she married Robinson, No. 5. He filed the divorce petition first, but she was allowed the decree on a cross petition.

Sub Inventor Honored; Home Now Is Museum

Westbrook, Conn.—The old home of David Bushnell, Revolutionary war officer and inventor of the torpedo and submarine, has been opened here as a museum and memorial.

Pieces of what is said to be the first submarine—the American Turtle —are on exhibition.

Bushnell's submarines and torpedoes never were developed to the point of deadly efficiency, but the story is told that a torpedo caused consternation in the British fleet when a sailor drew in a line attached to one. The torpedo exploded on deck, killing two seamen.

Bushnell became a physician and schoolmaster in Georgia after the war.

Medicine Man Potions Still Used by Indians

Millwaukee, Wis.—Herbs and plants and strange potions that legend tells were used by Indians for curing all manner of ills still are used by the remaining redmen in this country.

For three months Mervin H. Smith, botanist and Indian authority here, lived with the Ojibwa Indians in northern Wisconsin to learn first hand the cure ills and "good medicine," used by them.

It is milk from the milkweed for warts, ground cherries for eye trouble, and smoke of the tansy plant for a headache, Smith reported on his return here.

Mother, 71, Denied Right to Live Here With Son

Wethersfield, Conn.—In order to remain with her son here Mrs. Rosine C.
Allison, seventy-one, must travel to India and back. Mrs. Allison came here some months ago from Calcutta, India, to live with her son, Albert K.
Allison. The Scotch-Indian immigration quota being filled, she entered as a visitor, confident she could obtain permission to stay here. Now immigration officials rule the elderly widow must return to India, and enter with the next Scotch-Indian quota.

Irish Bar U. S. Films

Dublin.—The Free State censor has banned two American films because some of the characters wear Irish-clerk clothing.

Serious Situation in Haiti.

Washington, Dec. 6 (P).—The situation in Haiti, which led to a proclamation of martial law, was described today by Secretary Stimson as being "Regarded as exceedingly serious" because of popular excitement and danger of outbreaks by "Irresponsible Elements."

IDEAL AUTO FOR BUMPY COUNTRY ROADS

A new motor car recently exhibited at the Salon de l'Automobile in Paris, possessing six independent wheels and which can run over obstacles as high as 10 inches. It is powered with a four-cylinder air-cooled motor and can attain a speed of 60 kilometers an hour.

PERFORMANCE OF ANY SPARK PLUG

Best Condition Means Maximum of Efficiency.

With the general trend toward higher compression engines, the importance of keeping the spark plug in the best condition cannot be overemphasized. If the motorist would enjoy the maximum of efficient car operation, according to an engineering bulletin, which says:

"A surprisingly large percentage of poor performance may be traced and often eliminated by an examination of the spark plugs, which are often responsible for engine trouble coming under the following classifications:

Trouble Classifications.
1. Engine hard to start—misses at low idling speeds, sluggish.
2. Engine loses power on long runs, at high speed, on hills or hard pulls.
"Conditions described above may be due to fouled, worn out or wrong type spark plugs, or to improper adjustment of spark plug gaps."

"If the plugs are fouled, obviously they should be cleaned, and if worn out they should be replaced. If the gap is too wide it should be adjusted to .025 inch for average engines and
.020 inch for high compression engines. The distributor contact points should also be cleaned or renewed and the gap set at no less than .016 inch or more than .020 inch in most cases."

Cleaning Easily Done.
"In the case of fouled spark plugs that are comparatively new, cleaning is easily done:
"Fill the lower part of the plug with alcohol, metal polish or equal parts ammonia and water, and let it stand for a few seconds.
"Rub carbon from insulator with stiff wire or small wooden peg covered with one thickness of cloth. Then wipe the plug dry. Clean the sparking points with emery cloth. Adjust the gaps. Car manufacturers recommend that spark plugs be renewed every 10,000 miles because worn out plugs cannot be restored by cleaning."

Highway Grade Crossing Accidents on Increase

Of the 5,036 highway grade crossing accidents in which motor vehicles were involved during the past year in the United States, 1,275 resulted from motorists crashing into the sides of trains, which were either standing still or in motion. This was an increase of 113, or 9.7 per cent, compared with the number of such accidents in 1922. Highway grade crossing accidents resulting from motor vehicles being struck by trains totaled 2,761 in 1922, an increase of 74 compared with the preceding year, or an increase of 2 per cent.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Modern man drives 2,000 miles in a

Statistics show there is one automobile for every 70 of the world's population. Some drivers seem to have an idea it is up to them to kill off the other 69.

Find Another Effective Anti-Freeze Combination

The United States bureau of standards has found another anti-freeze that is said to be even more effective than glycerin. In that not as much is needed proportionately. That is ethylene glycol, a petroleum product which has the advantages of both alcohol and glycerin. It costs more than glycerin.

Glycerin mixes easily with water and is kept in circulation by the pump or the thermosiphon system of cars without pumps. It doesn't settle either down or up, so as to permit any part of the cooling system to freeze while the engine isn't running.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Buttons in Early Times
Looked on as Luxuries
By the "History of English Dress," the button is traced to 1250. It was commonly worn in the time of Edward I, and figures in a poem that dates from about this time and certainly not later than 1300. This refers to a robe, the sleeves of which were decorated with blue buttons from the elbow to the hand. When points and laces were introduced in the Fifteenth century, buttons fell out of favor, but returned as a luxury in the following century, and were so highly appreciated as to be requested in wills. A testator in a will dated 1573 left to one John Woodville, "my doublet of frize-canvas, and my hose with frize breeches. Also, unto Strawde, my frize jerkin with silk buttons." Also, to Symonde Flashhope, the smith, my other frize jerkin with stone buttons." (Gasoline tank of
"a bonnet buttoned with gold."—Kin-

Church's Vast Property.
The Trinity church tract, in New York city, contained about 52 acres and was variously known as the King's farm, the Duke's farm and the Queen's farm. Van Twiller, the Dutch governor of New Amsterdam, sold this tract in 1653 to Roelof Jans and by his will it became the property of his wife, Anneke. She died in 1663, leaving eight children, all of whom but one, Cornelius Bogardus, in March, 1670, executed an instrument known as a "transport" concerning the property to John Francis Lovelace, then governor of New York. Trinity church was incorporated by royal charter on May 1687. In 1708 Queen Anne formally presented the tract to the Trinity church.

The Lapse
A woman of intellectual tastes found it difficult to collect all the facts she wished to remember. She therefore secured the services of a memory system expert.

Scarcely had the expert taken his departure after a successful first lesson, when a loud double-knock was heard at the front door.

"Who was that, Mary?" the woman inquired of her maid, when the latter returned from answering the knock.

"Oh, if you please, ma'am," said Mary, "it was the memory man; he forgot his umbrella."

Auto Club Film At City Theatre

The Utter County Automobile Club has arranged with the three local theatres for the showing of the movie, "The Cross Roads Funeral." On Monday it will be shown at the Kingston Theatre; on Tuesday at the Orpheum and on Wednesday at the Broadway Theatre.

It was planned first to show the film at the annual meeting of the Auto Club on Monday evening, but that was not found feasible. The movie is in two reels and tells an interesting story of an American family touring by auto and of their experience in trying to solve the cross roads puzzle.

Auto Club to Hear Bixby

James S. Bixby, division engineer of the State Department of Public Works, will speak at the annual meeting of the Utter County Automobile Club at the Masonic Club on Broadway, near Henry street, on Monday evening. His address will prove of interest to all automobile drivers. Officers for the coming year will be elected, and reports of the work done by the club the year will be submitted by the officers.

Uprising Aimed At Nationalists

Nanking, Dec. 6 (AP).—All doubts that the military uprising which began last Tuesday with the mutiny at Pukow was aimed against the Nationalist government were dispelled this morning when General Shih Yu-shan, commander of the revolutionary division, issued a circular telegram from Pengpu explaining the purposes of the revolt.

General Shih said it was aimed directly at Nanking. Recalling his former alliance with the Kuomintang or "People's Army," which recently abandoned its attack on the Nationalists in Honan and Hupoh provinces, Shih said:

"One year ago I made an alliance with Nanking, due to a desire to see a peaceful country. However, during the past year corruption in the Nationalist government has been found shocking. Nanking has made no attempt for the relief of the suffering masses."

The rebellious troops now are holding the Tientsin-Pukow railway at Ningkwang, 50 miles south of Pengpu, with the main body concentrating at Pengpu.

Government forces numbered 15,000 took positions at Wuyi. German military advisers of the Nationalist government this morning crossed the Yangtze river enroute to Wuyi to assist the Nationalists.

Additional Nationalist forces were being massed at Pukow to guard the rear and protect Nanking in the event of outward developments. The capital now is virtually without troops.

Pending the arrival of reinforcements it is not the plan of the government to attack the rebels. The Nationalists will depend only upon holding the Yangtze crossing as a means of preventing a possible rebel advance northward.

The Nationalist advance northward is expected to begin when reinforcements from other areas, scheduled to come to Pukow, arrive.

Thus far no serious clashes have occurred between government and rebel forces, although there have been outpost skirmishes. Several railway bridges were blown up, preventing raids by armored cars.

Gas Bombs in Warfare

The Chinese have known and used gas bombs for many centuries, and there is positive proof of their using "stink bombs" against pirates along the Kiang and Tschu rivers. The English used similar bombs in the first war and they were also used in the Russo-Japanese war in 1904. In 1910 of the fact that it was generally understood at the peace conference in Geneva in 1920 that their use would be abandoned, they were again used in the World war.

Records in Hays county Texas, show that $167 was sufficient to clothe, feed and support a 16-year-old boy in school for a year in 1865.

AT THE THEATRES

Today.

Kingston: "Welcome Dancer", a rollicking presentation of Harold Lloyd that the whole family will enjoy. Lloyd talks for the first time, and what he says is just as funny as what he does.

Broadway: "The Love Doctor", Richard Dix as the doctor turns to thoughts of love as a business with the result that he is efficient for others, but pretty much of a fool himself. Dix's voice records well and puts the picture across. Orpheum: "The Hollywood Star". Good music, dance numbers and dialogue, and glimpses of some of Hollywood's most popular stars.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Sweetie", plain story but what Helen Kane does to it makes it food for the thought of any young man. And then there's Nancy Carroll as nice as the real Broadway: Same. Orpheum: Same.

OPEN EVENINGS.

AND
OR JUST "DIAMONDS."

If you know whether Jager Diamonds are finer than Cape Diamonds, Wesseltons finer than Premiers, if you can distinguish blue-white from yellow or light brown, if you judge the value of a diamond by its proportion of width to depth—if, in other words, you are a true connoisseur of diamonds, you do not need our help in your choice of these fine jewels.

But if you are not a connoisseur you will want to be guided in your selection of diamond jewelry by men who have mastered these matters of color, proportion and value. You will feel secure only in a store whose men not only know all there is to know about the diamond you choose, but who will tell you everything frankly while you choose.

Those people who are not connoisseurs come to see us for honest guidance in their selection of the diamonds.

And those people who are connoisseurs come to us for the finest of the jewels themselves.

Throughout the many years of our business history we have earned and now enjoy a reputation for selling merchandise of the highest character. Some people may confuse "HIGH QUALITY" with "HIGH PRICES," so we want to make it quite clear that Oppenheimer's is a "Store for Everybody"—for those who appreciate WORTHWHILE merchandise at reasonable prices.

We cordially invite you to visit our store—while we appreciate purchases we also welcome visitors—we want you to become familiar with our large and varied stock.
